Dating Service Attempts to Alleviate Loneliness of Single Life in Princeton

"It's hard to find a nice person," reads the headline on the slick brochure produced by Arrange-a-Date, the new Princeton-based match-making service. If you are single and live in the Princeton area, you will have no trouble believing that.

"Why not let us make it easier for you?" the brochure continues. If you are single and live in Princeton or anywhere else, for that matter, you might be skeptical at first of that invitation. But skeptical or not, you certainly will read one, and you might even dial the number, 921-8558. As a single person you know you need all the help you can get.

Not that being single is the worst possible human condition. And not that being single in Princeton is so bad. It was far worse just a decade ago. Then the only single people in town were college students, and young people studying to be ministers or church organists. Princeton's nightlife consisted of Dominick Zullo on guitar at the old King's Court and a combo playing fox trots at the Nassau Inn. It was cold on Nassau Street.

Today the Princeton area teems with single adults. Their version of the western section is Princeton Meadows; they commute to the Forrestal Center or Educational Testing Service or any of the hundred and one new companies that have sprouted in the Princeton area. The King's Court has been transformed into the Alchemist and Barrister, and the singles flock to that bar every night — they provide their own entertainment, thank you.

Up on Nassau Street you could have seen them on Friday or Saturday night, especially, jammed into the Hudibras, which a decade ago housed a bowling alley. On Valentine Sunday they were ducking in and out of the flower shops, open for the occasion.

But it is still cold on Nassau Street and, the bountiful numbers of single adults notwithstanding, it is still hard to find a nice person.

That thought gnawed away at Mary Strzelecki and Marianne Strzelecki — they are cousins — one cold Saturday night several years ago. They were sitting around alone (what else?) in their apartment in Princeton meadows (where else?) Mary, a 28-year-old nurse with a master's in community health from Penn, had a man she was seeing steadily at that time. Marianne, 26, a 1977 Princeton University graduate now working as a systems analyst at Banker's Trust in New York, was single then and in search of one of those elusive nice persons.

As they browsed through the pages of Ms. magazine, the Strzelecki cousins noticed an advertisement for a dating service. Marianne paid $25 and signed up. "This service was mainly a name exchange," she recalls. "The application was minimal — name, address,

Borough Is Still Uncertain About Financing for Garage

They seem to be drawing lines for another battle of the bond referendum.

Though Borough officials were still awaiting word this week from a consultant on the feasibility of private financing of the proposed Spring Street parking garage, the growing opinion was that another bond ordinance — as controversial as that would be — might still be the best way to raise the money.

"Any concept of a private entrepreneur building the garage and then leasing back to the Borough would involve the borrowing of money at the current rate of 20 percent or so. If the Borough financed it through a tax exempt bond issue the interest would be about 13 percent. This makes me pessimistic that we can find a plan," said Councilman Richard Macgill, who last week initiated discussions with a consulting firm, Goldman, Beale Associates, to explore alternate means of financing the garage.

Mr. Macgill expected to receive a recommendation from the consultants this week.

Borough Has Long List of Capital Projects To Be Financed with 16% Tax Increase

Borough Administrator Mark Gordon and his staff are "still fine-tuning the numbers" and expect to "have a little better handle" on the specifics next week, but in the meantime taxpayers can assume that the Borough portion of the annual property tax bill will rise by about 16 percent.

For a homeowner with a house assessed at $100,000, the proposed budget would mean an increase of about $70 in the Borough portion of the total tax bill. If the county and school board budgets come in at the same level as last year, then the $100,000 homeowner would face a total tax bill of $2,320, up from this year's $2,250. In the more likely case of the county and school board asking for more money, then the total tax bill will be higher yet. The figures from the school board and the county have not yet reached Borough Hall.

Borough officials, who at one point were looking at a budget proposal that would have called for a 35 percent increase, seemed satisfied with the new projection. "We're ready to go and reasonably happy," commented Mayor Cawley. "I say that carefully because even though there's a 16 percent increase, I think there are still things we ought to be doing that we aren't. We have a long list of capital projects that seems to just get longer."

The list of things that WILL be done in 1982 is almost ready and includes everything from firehoses to cash registers.

Nobody expects any reimbursement from state or Federal sources for road repair in '82, and so there is only one street job on the Borough's list. This is $35,000 to repave Charlton and work on its drainage.

The budget has a sidewalk on the west side of Harrison Street North, from Hawthorne to Ewing — the Township line — for a cost of $5,000, and $10,000 to make up the full amount needed for the walk on Bayard Lane.

The biggest items, as any homeowner can testify, are roofs. The Borough has a new roof for the 15-year-old Borough Hall, and a new roof for the Borough garage on North Harrison, for a total of $27,000. An internal leak within Borough Hall, is to be repaired for $3,000. Old, worn-down furniture in the downstairs Borough Hall lounge, will be replaced for $1,200.

The police will get their computer, so they can check instantly for motor vehicle information. They will also have an instant contact with state and Federal information banks. The computer will be $7,000. Municipal court, next door to the police, will get a new cash register for $2,500. So many fines and court costs, the old one just wore out.

The fire department, at a cost of $25,000, will be replacing many of its old Scott Airpaks. This is the breathing apparatus that keeps firefighters alive in smoke and fumes. Present apparatus is 15 to 18 years old. Old hose will also be replaced, for $4,000.

Intruders Injure Woman In Armed Robbery Try

A Sassafras Row resident was injured Saturday during an attempted armed robbery at her apartment.

The victim was home alone when two black males entered her kitchen shortly after noon through an unlocked door and demanded her daughter's wedding money. One of the intruders was armed with a knife with a four- to five-inch blade.

When told the money was in the bank, police report that one of the two knocked the victim from her wheelchair onto the floor; the other scattered a box of crackers around the room before both fled. The victim was taken to Princeton Medical Center where she was treated for injuries to her left shoulder and back and released.

Both suspects are described as in their early 20s, 5-10 to 6-0 tall and thin. Each wore a stocking mask and a black watch cap. Det. Frank Boccanfuso is continuing the initial investigation by Ptl. Robert Buchanan.

Referendum

"We're talking to them because they are ingenious, knowledgeable people," he said. But until they come up with some ingenious ideas, Mr. Macgill saw no reason to be optimistic: "We may have been overly excited at first about the possibility of alternative financing — not that we've given up."

Last week Council cancelled its scheduled hearing on a new bond ordinance for the garage, which had been rejected by the voters in November in a close and contested referendum. The cancellation was to allow time for the consultants to report. This week Council seemed likely to move ahead with the bond ordinance process. A public hearing date is likely to be set at the Council meeting next Thursday, February 25.

We don't want to defer too long because PCH has a timetable," said Mayor Cawley, referring to the Community Housing group's plans to construct subsidized housing on the Spring Street lot, which is contingent upon the garage construction. "Every month PCH is delayed they run the risk of the meat cleaver falling."

The mayor indicated that the exploration of the private financing schemes might proceed at the same time as the bond ordinance wends its way through Council. "We're still meeting with Kinney" (the commercial parking garage company) "to see if we can make some arrangement where they would have an interest in the garage. Any alternate means of financing is going to take a fair amount of time," said the mayor. "I'd be surprised if we could pull together a private scheme in two months."

"If you can keep the litigants and opposition groups away," Mr. Cawley added with a smile, "the bond issue is still as sure a way as any to raise money."

Opposition 'Stronger.' In Princeton the opposition group already has inched front and center, and their opposition to another bond ordinance promises to be no less fervent than it was last fall.

"Our opposition will be stronger," said John B. Miller, founder of the Dollars and Sense Committee which worked to thwart the bond issue in November. "We're developing viable alternatives to what has been proposed. We will encourage the opposition to reveal all information to the public" so that voters can judge for themselves the need for such housing and the fairness of the operating policies.

Mr. Miller met recently with representatives of PCH and another meeting is scheduled for this Friday. "Neither group has any specific suggestion that would represent a realistic compromise," said Mr. Miller, "but the last meeting was constructive and I hope the next one will be."

On that point, at least, the two sides agree. "How do they put it in foreign affairs — it's been a useful exchange of information," said Harriet Bryan of PCH. "We understand their opposition better and we've had a chance to explain why we feel we can't change the site and to emphasize our desire to serve the needy Princetonians. There's less chance for misunderstanding."

PCH, meanwhile, must hold all its plans in abeyance until the garage issue is resolved. "We're just hoping Council moves quickly," said Mrs. Bryan. The housing group has a commitment of $3,680,000 in funds from the Housing and Urban Development agency.

"We don't know when that deal falls apart. There's no magic date set somewhere," said Mrs. Bryan. "They always expect to add in an inflation factor to the original grant, but it's not just the building we're concerned with. There's also the guarantee of subsidies to the renters — that's being cut back."

Borough Budget

With an expenditure of $15,000 the fire department will complete the upgrading and replacement of its pagers and radios — the equipment that summons fire fighters to the fire.

New Air System. In new equipment, the fire department will have a $4,000 air system for its aerialscope. That's Hook and Ladder's big truck tall enough for tall buildings. With the air system, firemen up on the high platform, won't have to come back down for more oxygen. Princeton will also buy $2,000 worth of valve and hose adapters, thereby making it easier for neighboring towns to help each other out in big fires. For example, Princeton's hoses are three and one-half inches; other towns have four-inch hoses. The $2,000 portable, gasoline-powered pump will be used to pump out basements.

For this year, the Borough has postponed buying the mini-attack pumper the fire department wants. It will be a good thing to have, the three fire companies believe, after the new Palmer Square garages are built. Its mini size will mean it can maneuver easily within a garage, or even in field fires where big and cumbersome equipment has trouble.

The capital budget, in its vehicular section, has a $60,000 landfill loader — the bulldozer that pushes garbage around — a three-quarter-ton truck and an asphalt roller, both for $15,000, a new police car and a new, three-wheeled Cushman. A Cushman is what gives you a parking ticket. The last two items cannot, by state law, be included in a bond issue, and must be in the operating budget. The capital budget itself, is rounded out with $28,000 for equipment to repair or replace clogged siphons in sewer lines.

The Borough obtains money for these capital items through bond-anticipation notes. Borough Administrator Mark Gordon said the municipality does not yet know whether permanent bonding will be required.

List Not Final. All these things are only part of the story. The list is not final and a few items may be added. What Borough departments asked for is not necessarily what they got. For example, ask Borough engineer George Olexa what more he wanted: •Repaving Harrison Street North from Nassau to Mer-shon ($98,000).

•Repaving and re-curb-ing Springdale from Mercer to the Borough line ($84,000).

•Overlay on Campbellton Circle and Road, and Orchard Circle ($16,000).

•Roadway and curbs for Maple Street Extension, from Spruce Street to the dead end ($18,000).

•Re-pave Spruce Street from Maple to Linden ($12,500).

•Repave Lafayette-Hunter from Cleveland to Westcott ($97,000).

•Concrete curbs on a dozen streets ($20,000).

•Storm drain on Hawthorne ($30,000).

•Sidewalk on Library Place — east side — from Cleveland to Westcott ($7,000).

•Sewers replaced on Vandeventer between Park and Spring, and on Spring from Vandeventer to Wither-spoon ($44,000).

Borough officials have decided not to do any serious work on the streets surrounding Palmer Square until construction of the expanded Square has been, if not fully completed, at least completed so far as the movement of heavy-duty equipment is concerned.

Burglaries Show Significant Drop in Township; Overall Crime Remained at Same Level in 1981

Overall, crime in the Township in 1981 was neither up nor down dramatically. "We are fortunate in the respect that it has held equal to the level of the past four to five years," commented Chief Frederick Porter. "I'm quite pleased," he added, "that some statistics are down, especially burglaries."

Chief Porter attributed the drop in burglaries to 143 from 216 the year before to "an awareness by the people — we have five neighborhood watch groups which helps —" and to the daily movement of police patrols.

During 1981 in the Township thefts (including shoplifting) also decreased to 274 from 329 — there were 368 in 1979 — and assaults were down to 23 from 34. In all, there were 742 offenses reported in 1981, down from 811 the year before. In 1979, the figure was 931.

There were six rapes, including attempts, in contrast to none the previous two years; there were no homicides, one robbery, 21 auto thefts and two cases of arson. Crimes which reflected increases were sex offenses other than rape, seven up from four; driving under the influence of alcohol, 24 up from 14; disorderly conduct, 98 up from 85; narcotic drug laws, 20 up from 10; and forgery, fraud, embezzlement, 11 up from seven. Seven offenses of buying and receiving and possession of stolen property were reported in 1981, three more than the previous year.

A total of 234 persons were arrested for various crimes in the Township last year, 102 of them under the age of 18. Among adults, the most arrests were for drunken driving, 23 (up 11), theft, 17 (down 12), narcotic drug laws, 15 (up 3) and disorderly conduct, 20 (up 6). One was arrested for rape, three for atrocious assault and nine for other assaults.

Among juveniles, the most arrests were theft, 23, narcotic drug laws, 16, disorderly conduct, 15, and runaways, 14 — all increases over the previous years. The 14 runaways, however, include those from other police departments.

In 1981, 357 accidents were investigated in the Township, down from 372 in '80. There were three traffic deaths — two on Princeton-Kingston Road and one on Quaker — compared to one the previous year, and 142 persons were injured, an increase of 15.

In 1981, property valued at $247,537 was reported stolen of which $22,727 was recovered. The figures for 1980 are $351,183 and $56,802; for 1979, $412,074 and $30,310. Chief Porter notes that these are not true figures because, he explains, many times victims cannot or will not give a value to the property stolen.

Last year, 15,129 calls for police assistance were logged by Township police — 96 fewer than in 1980. Of these, 2,758 were for aid to citizens, 3,327 alarm signals (for the most part, false, police note), 1,032 animal calls and 169 escorts. To do all this, Township police cars travelled a total of 273,254 miles last year, slightly less than 1980's 281,073.

Borough Chief Reports Crime Reduction in 1981 But Also Warns of Decreasing Police Services

Although the incidence of "major crime" decreased 4.8 percent in the Borough in 1981 compared to the previous year, Chief Michael Carnevale cautioned, in a preface to his annual year-end report, that "This department can no longer resist the statewide trend of declining police services at the municipal level when confronted with reduced personnel strength, inadequate facilities and the absence of modern technological equipment."

Summing up this year's report, Chief Carnevale observed: "Crime is fairly constant. I think each year the report speaks for itself."

"There is a tremendous amount of activity in the community, some of it criminal, some of it dealing with everyday problems that confront police departments throughout the state. It is our responsibility to meet these challenges and to provide the very best possible service to the community."

In the Borough last year, assaults were up to 74 from 44, an increase of 48 percent — the major increase occurring in simple assaults, which doubled to 60 from 31.

Thefts dropped 21 percent to 500 from 640 and burglary and theft was also down to 330 from 385, a fourteen percent drop. Robberies remained the same at nine, while auto thefts increased to 33 from 24. There were no rapes or murders in the Borough last year.

In 1981, Borough police conducted 2,835 investigations which required a written report, an increase of 1,341. Of these, 957 were classified as major crimes, a decrease of 49 from the previous year.

The value of stolen property in the Borough last year amounted to $566,114 of which $91,135 was recovered. The figures for 1980 are $674,027 and $57,846.

The police department generated $637,402 in revenue in '81, compared to $570,774 the year before. The largest chunk was meter revenue of $300,639 — up from $287,132. Parking fines accounted for $233,467, motor vehicle moving violation fines were $87,336, and criminal fines $5,364.

Fees for accident reports and meter bags brought in $4,604 and $4,016 was unclaimed money which came into police possession as a result of narcotic and burglary arrests.

Police Commissioner Barbara Hill commented that motor vehicle and criminal fines are set by the court. "Neither Council nor the police department has anything to do with them. They are set not with an eye for revenue but as a deterrent to crime."

Still the $637,402 represents 94.7 percent of the 1981 police salary budget. "No other department can recoup such a large amount of its budget as the police department," noted Chief Carnevale in his report.

60,679 Summonses. In 1981 Borough police issued 60,679 summonses, of which 56,004 were for parking violations and 4,684 for moving violations. All are increases over 1980 figures of 49,074 total, 45,278 parking and 3,797 moving.

Chief Carnevale attributed the 10,000 plus increase in parking tickets in part to less inclement weather, causing fewer meters to freeze and the increase in moving violations to the service for the entire year of a traffic enforcement officer. The previous year, when the officer was added through a grant from the Department of Highway Safety, the traffic officer was in operation just three months.

In 1981, 1,628 received tickets for speeding — down 95 — and the streets where one was most likely to be caught were Mercer, Harrison, Hamilton, University Place and Elm Road.

One-hundred twenty-eight drivers were flagged for careless driving, 57 for driving while under the influence (up 19), 411 for red light violations, 229 for having no license or registration in possession, 32 for operating while license was suspended, 47 for improper passing and 102 for having no name on a commercial vehicle — up from 63.

In 1981, 40,335 tickets for overtime meter parking were issued, 9000 more than 1980's 31,377. All night parking violations dipped slightly to 5,240 from 5,591 and 77 were issued summonses for meter feeding, 34 fewer than the year before.

Juvenile crime figures reveal that 48 cases were referred to the juvenile court, down 13; 80 handled within the department and released, up seven; and 110 released to their parents, down 24. Fifteen, eight more than the previous year, were placed on probation.

Juveniles charged with possession of alcohol fell to 10 from 26, those under the influence of alcohol dipped to four from six but use of alcohol tripled to six from two. Fourteen juveniles were charged with possession of marijuana — an increase of two — and one with being under the influence of a narcotic, the same as last year.

Seventy-eight fires were reported to the police in the Borough in 1981, compared to 82 in '80. Four of these were general alarms (down three), nine extinguished by the police, 12 by others and 36 proved to be false alarms. Car fires were up to 12 from 7.

Twenty-six fires were determined to be accidental, eight suspicious, three arson and four of undetermined origin. In 1980 there was just one case of arson. For the second year in a row, no one died or was injured as a result of a fire in the Borough.

SALARIES LISTED

For 'Extra Services.' Adjustments in the extra pay awarded to teachers for extra services such as coaching and advising student activities, along with consideration of whether or not the school district should begin a tuition-financed summer session, were among the items listed on the agenda for this week's business meeting of the Princeton Regional Board of Education.

The board also was being asked to consider a proposed change in the academic calendar that would include the Jewish holiday, Rosh Hashanah, as a school closing day.

Jennings to Leave?

Paul Jennings, assistant superintendent of schools, is one of the three finalists for the position of superintendent of the Wellesley, Massachusetts, school system.

Dr. Jennings, who has been in his Princeton post for five years, said that he applied for the Wellesley job because he and his wife had always wanted to settle in the Boston area. He said, also, that the Wellesley system is much like Princeton's. It is slightly larger — 3,800 students and six elementary schools — but it, too, is faced with declining enrollment, and has already closed a school.

The Wellesley School Committee — the same as a school board in New Jersey — is expected to make its decision later this month.

The calendar change, which was introduced at the Tuesday night meeting, was based on a recommendation from Superintendent Paul Houston. "Teacher and student absenteeism is such that it's just not an efficient day," he said. "I feel it's better to close and not try to fight it." The proposed change would not alter the total number of school days in the year.

The question of the summer session arose as part of a proposal to implement a summer environmental studies program for grades three through eight. Students participating in it would be asked to pay tuition to cover the costs.

"We're asking the board to consider whether we want to get into the business of running a school where we ask students to pay to go," said Dr. Houston.

Extra Pay Still Lagging. The adjustments in extra pay, the superintendent noted, are intended "to put everyone on a consistent formula" based on the number of students participating, the number of hours required, and the level of responsibility held by the teacher.

Dr. Houston said that the schedule of payments is still less than that offered by other districts. The increases make

Princeton "somewhat competitive" he said, "but we are still not ahead of any district."

Under the proposed adjustments, applicable to appointments that take place this June, the highest paid extra service teacher will be the drama advisor, Carol Wimberg, who will make $2,579 for her work with budding actors. She had been paid $2,078.

The head football coach, William Cirullo, will be paid $2,489 for guiding the Little Tigers in the fall, plus $1,674 for coaching lacrosse. His extra pay in those sports this year was $1,990 and $1,510. James O'Neil, the head baseball coach, will receive $1,712 for those duties, as compared to $1,510 this year.

Men and Women Equal. The new formula continues to pay the coaches of girls' teams the same amount as those who coach the boys' teams in that sport. Joyce Jones and Marvin Trotman were both raised from $1,911 to $2,315 for their duties as head coaches of girls' and boys' basketball. Ms. Jones also receives the same pay as Mr. Cirullo for coaching lacrosse.

In her duties as field hockey coach, however, she will make slightly more than Mr. Beacham will coaching boys' soccer. Her field hockey pay will be increased from $1,335 to $1,484. Mr. Beacham's soccer stipend will rise from $1,335 to $1,422. Carol Parsons, the coach of girls' soccer, will receive the same amount as Mr. Beacham for that sport.

APARTMENTS ENTERED

On Aiken Avenue. Two apartments on Aiken Avenue were entered last week by way of a window, and looted.

Taken from one were a 35 mm camera, a silver necklace and a table lighter, with a combined value of $875; from the second, a Winchester rifle, gold cuff links, Polaroid camera, hunting knives and $30 in change with a total value of $500. Police placed the entry between 8 a.m. and 1 p.m. last Wednesday.

There was a forced entry Thursday into an office at the Nassau Presbyterian Church on Nassau Street. Taken, police report, were a clock, barometer and two wooden stands. Total value: $620.

MAKING NEWS: Former Princeton Councilwoman Barbara Sigmund's announcement of her candidacy for Congress drew more than the usual amount of attention. The television cameras caught Mrs. Sigmund at Borough Hall Monday morning with her husband and three children, and her mother, Representative Lindy Boggs of Louisiana. Mrs. Boggs took over the seat held by her husband, former House Majority Leader Hale Boggs, who disappeared in an airplane over Alaska in 1972. "Politics is probably in the genes," Mrs. Sigmund has said.

SIGMUND ANNOUNCES

Run for Congress. Before an overflow crowd at Borough Hall, and in the glaring lights of television camera crews from ABC and NBC, former Princeton Councilwoman Barbara Sigmund formally announced her candidacy for the United States Congress Monday.

Mrs. Sigmund, a Mercer County freeholder and a resident of 8 Evelyn Place, is the eldest daughter of U.S. Representative Lindy Boggs (D-La.). Mrs. Boggs joined her daughter at Borough Hall for the announcement, made on what would have been the 68th birthday of her father, the late House Majority Leader Hale Boggs.

"I am delighted that Barbara has decided to continue her fine career of public service by running for Congress," Mrs. Boggs said. "Great politicians are made — not born — and Barbara's years of hard work, attention to the intricacies of legislation, compromise and personal growth make her an outstanding candidate. I hope she can use some of the lessons learned in our very political household, and adapt them to suit New Jersey's new Seventh Congressional District."

Mrs. Sigmund, 42, president of the New Jersey Association of Counties, was elected to Borough Council in 1972 and served until 1976. She and her husband, Paul Sigmund, a professor of Latin American politics at Princeton University, live in Princeton with their three sons.

Mrs. Sigmund is seeking the Democratic nomination for the Seventh District, which twists through central New Jersey like a fishhook. No incumbent lives in this district, which includes Princeton Township and Borough. The primary election will be held on June 8. One of Mrs. Sigmund's principal opponents will be Adam Levin, former director of the State Division of Consumer Affairs.

If Mrs. Sigmund overcomes the considerable obstacles in the primary and then wins in November, and if Mrs. Boggs wins reelection as expected, then they will form what the historians believe would be the first mother-daughter team in Congressional history.

STIFFER PENALTIES

For Drunken Driving. Stiffer penalties for people convicted of driving while intoxicated or for refusing to submit to a breathalyzer test have been enacted by the state legislature. The law which was signed by Governor Byrne on January 12, became effective immediately and applies only to offenses committed after the effective date.

The penalty for the first offense for driving while intoxicated is a fine of not less than $250 nor more than $400, loss of driving privileges for at least six months and up to 30 days imprisonment at the discretion of the court.

For a second time offender, the fine goes up to not less than $500, not more than $1,000, two years loss of driving, up to 90 days imprisonment at the discretion of the court and mandatory 30 days community service. For the third offense, the individual will be hit with a $1,000 fine, 10 years loss of driving privilege, not less than 180 days imprisonment, but community service may be substituted on a day-for-day basis for up to 90 days.

The penalty for refusing to take a breathalyzer test is six-month loss of driving privilege the first time and two years the second. A fine of not less than $250 and not more than $500 will be imposed in both cases.

Cawley for Sigmund

Though he emphasized that he is still a registered — and loyal — Republican and therefore will not vote for any Democrat on Primary Day, Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley this week endorsed Barbara Sigmund for the Democratic nomination for Congress from New Jersey's Seventh District.

"I really believe the people are best served when the best people run for office," said Mr. Cawley. "I know Barbara personally. She's a fine person and it's the public's interest that comes first for her, not the party's. She would represent us very well if she ultimately won."

The mayor also endorsed Millicent Fenwick for the Republican nomination for Senate and noted that both women face uphill fights in their bids for nomination. He qualified slightly his support for Mrs. Sigmund: "Whether or not she would get my vote in November is another question," he said. "I'm a loyal Republican." But he did admit straying from the party line at least once in the past: in 1968 he registered as a Democrat to support the Presidential primary campaign of Eugene McCarthy. "I just felt strongly about the man."

DECEPTION IS CHARGED

To Borough Men. Hette Briscoe 3rd, 27, of 52 Clearview Avenue, has been charged by Borough police with five counts of theft by deception and is scheduled to appear in court this Wednesday.

Briscoe, police say, visited the Princeton University store last October 10 and used a student's U-store ID card to purchase items from several departments valued at $604.30. Following an investigation, he was charged Monday by Det. James Agins.

Among the items police say Briscoe charged were a television set, a radio, tape cassettes, assorted clothing, a ski jacket, and squash sneakers.

Shoplifter Charged. A 47-year-old Princeton resident, identified by police as Yve Anna Zara, 19 Humbert Street, has been charged with Shoplifting by Township police.

She is alleged to have taken items valued at $44.61 at the Bon Appetit gourmet shop in the Princeton Shopping Center, placed them in a plastic bag and attempted to leave the store without paying. She was arrested Saturday by Ptl. Mario Musso.

violin a student in Pennsylvania, told police that her coat had been hidden inside her date's coat.

Earlier, a Princeton University student had reported the theft of her $130 wool coat. Police said both thefts took place between 1:30 and 3:15 a.m.

On Thursday, a Princeton High School student listed the theft of her coat from an unlocked locker in the women's locker room at the Y building. It is valued at $100.

There were three wallet thefts. In the most recent, a wallet containing $15, a University Store card and a Sunday morning at the Dial university meal card, was removed from a jacket which $500 mink coat was taken from had been left unattended a second-floor room. The between 12:01 and 1 n.m. while the victim was attending a party at Tiger Inn.

A graduate student and an employee at the Engineering Quadrangle lost $50 when her wallet was taken from her knapsack, which she had left on her office desk between 9:30 and 11 Friday morning; and an employee at the Princeton Day Club on Stockton Street lost $42 earlier in the week when her wallet was stolen from her purse, left in the kitchen area.

Two Borough residents were the victims last week of gasoline siphoners.

When a Hawthorne Avenue resident's car wouldn't start Sunday morning, he discovered that all the gas — $10 worth — had been siphoned from the tank. About $30 in damage was done trying to remove the gas cap, the owner said.

About $5 worth of gas was siphoned from a small foreign car parked in a lot of Prospect Avenue, where police found a four-foot section of hose at the scene. The cap had been pried open.

A university student told police that his $50 battery was removed from his car while it was parked in the lot behind the Wawa Store on University Place.

In two other campus thefts, a Freehold resident listed the theft of a $455 18K gold chain from the pocket of his coat which was in an unlocked locker in Dillon gym, and a color TV set valued at $395 was taken from the lounge area in Gauss Hall.

A grey, pin-stripe jacket, a wool skirt and a silk blouse were shoplifted last week from a women's apparel shop on Nassau Street. Police said that it believed the items, valued at $400, were secreted under the clothing of two female suspects.

memorabilia, is on display at the Mary Jacobs Memorial Library through March 12. Banners, campaign buttons, photographs, and manuscripts pertaining to the history of women's suffrage are on loan from the Smithsonian Institution, the New Jersey Historical Society, and Rutgers. They illustrate the role of New Jersey women in the fight for the 19th Amendment to the Constitution.

On Tuesday, March 16, at 7:30 p.m., two representatives from the Boston Women's Health Book Collective will speak and lead a discussion on "Women in Health: The Well Woman." The Boston group is noted for its book, "Our Bodies, Ourselves." The program will be held in the Mary Jacobs Memorial Library.

The library exhibit cases will be filled with medical paraphernalia from March 15 through April 9. Antique medical instruments dating from the 18th century as well as books and photographs will provide viewers with an overview of the medical treatment of women and their ailments.

These programs are the first in a series presented by the Women's Studies Team in cooperation with the Mary Jacobs Memorial Library. The "Women in the Community" series will include a total of five programs in women's studies, with coordinate exhibits and selected reading lists on program themes.

The series is planned and presented by a team of four area women who sought and won a grant of $7500 for the project. The team is composed of Joyce Willis, director of the Mary Jacobs Memorial Library; Ferris Olin, Art Librarian at Rutgers; Patricia Cope, director of the Montgomery Arts Council, and Virginia Cyrus, director of Women's Studies at Rider College.

A contest has developed in this year's election of trustees to the board of Princeton Medical Center. The Election will be held at the annual meeting of the Corporation on Monday at 8 in the Medical Center meeting room. Ballots sent in the mail to all corporation members must be signed and received by the corporation no later than 8 p.m. Saturday.

A nominating committee, composed of two trustees and three community members, has proposed seven candidates, all of whom are incumbents, for seven slots. In addition there are three candidates who have obtained the necessary five signatures from corporation members to petition for their election.

Dr. Thomas L. Evans, a pediatrician and medical director at the Lawrenceville School, and Dr. Reuven Snyderman, a plastic and reconstructive surgeon, are two of the seven nominating committee nominees. Their election is assured, because under Corporation by-laws, at least two members of the Medical Center board must be members of the attending medical and dental staff.

The other nominees proposed by the nominating committee are Charles H. Berry, a professor of economics and public affairs and associate dean of the Woodrow Wilson School at Princeton University; S. Lester Block, a senior vice president of R.H. Macy & Co. who is an attorney and serves as secretary of the Medical Center Corporation; Edward R. Farley Jr., president and chairman of the board of Atlas Corporation, who is chairman of the Medical Center board;

Two Terms for Most. Also Philip D. Reed, treasurer of a major standard horse breeding farm in New Jersey; and James Stewart III, president and chief executive officer of Princeton Bank who serves as treasurer of the Medical Center Corporation. All have served two terms of three years each, except Prof. Berry who was appointed to fill an unexpired vacancy a year ago.

Individuals nominated by petition are Ethan C. Finley who is employed part-time in a Palmer Square law firm; the Rev. Dr. Fred D. Tennie Jr., pastor of Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church and a member of the New Jersey State Nursing Home Administration Licensing Board; and Maryanne E. Wood of Metuchen, a student in a master's degree program.

In a letter accompanying the ballot and description of the candidates sent to corporation members, William A. Schreyer and William M. Webster, chairman and co-chairman of the nominating committee, urge the election

PJ&B's 'Mikado' Provides Lively Entertainment In Spite of Cast's Difficulty in Projecting Lyrics

Poor W.S. Gilbert. He took such pains to find just the right words for the cleverly ridiculous lyrics he wrote to Arthur Sullivan's music, but a good half of them were lost somewhere between the stage and the audience in PJ&B's production last weekend of that all-time favorite, "The Mikado."

But if Sir Gilbert — who drowned (somewhat ironically) back in 1911 at the age of 75 while rescuing a woman he was teaching to swim — was rolling in his grave last weekend, the audience was rolling in their seats, for there was plenty to laugh at anyway, from the wonderful Japanese garb (by Catherine Cann) to the earnestly silly performances — and particularly those of the four male leads.

News Of The THEATRES

The real star of this "Mikado," however, was not the hook, the music, nor the performers, but the two glorious sets designed by John Jensen. Representing the courtyard and garden of Ko-Ko, the Lord High Executioner, both sets made excellent use of charming "bamboo" arched bridges, large gilt screens depicting Oriental scenes, scrolls of Japanese calligraphy, and multi-levelled platforms. In addition, an enormous white paper lantern produced a splendid effect in Act I, as did the drooping wisteria and open umbrellas in Act II.

'LET'S MAKE A DEAL': Koko (Jack Friede) persuades Nanki-Poo (Brent Monahan) who is about to hang himself, to die at the hands of the Lord High Executioner in exchange for a month of marriage to Yum-Yum.

there was little to do during the show at McCarter besides admire the sets. Hardly! Milton Lyon, who directed the first PJ&B musical in 1961 and has since directed all but one of the ensuing 23 productions, has once again orchestrated his large cast — nine principals plus choruses totalling 61 — and conducted his 25-piece orchestra with gusto.

Complicated Plot. For those who might have missed "The Mikado," Gilbert and Sullivan's 1885 operetta is about Nanki-Poo (Brent Jeffrey Monahan), son of the Mikado, the emperor of Japan (Jack Lanning), who is in love with the delectable Yum-Yum (Derry Light). But it is not a straightforward courtship at all, for the hitches are multifold.

For one, Yum-Yum is betrothed to her guardian Ko-Ko, the Lord High

Executioner who is incapable of executing a cockroach (Jack Friedel). For another, Katisha, a mean old hag (Mary Alice Eubank), says

Nanki-Poo is engaged to her, and the Mikado unfortunately believes her. And, as if this weren't enough, Ko-Ko is ordered by the emperor to execute someone within a month or the town of Titipu will be demoted to a village and Ko-Ko will lose his position.

Nanki-Poo goes into a suicidal despair over Yum-Yum's betrothal to Ko-Ko, but Ko-Ko convinces him not to kill himself now. Instead, they strike a deal: Nanki-Poo can marry Yum-Yum if in one month he will agree to be executed by Ko-Ko.

There are of course other twists and "how-de-do's" to the plot, each one more ridiculous than the last, but you can more or less guess how it all turns out.

Particularly commendable in the cast are Brent Monahan as the smitten Nanki-Poo; Jack Friedel as the sissyish Ko-Ko; Jack Lanning as the benevolently evil Mikado; Teresa Nevela as the sprightly Pitti-Sing, and Reid White — whom viewers may have failed to recognize as last year's Petruchio-Fred Graham from "Kiss Me, Kate" — as the wonderfully corrupt Pooh-Bah, Lord High Everything Else. Mr. White deservedly got one of the biggest laughs of the show when, at the end of his enumeration of his many posts, he added, "and Lord Mayor — for both the borough and the township."

Part of the joy of PJ&B is that it's like a big community party, where even if you don't know anyone on-stage personally, you can still have fun picking out casts of PJ&B musicals past (made more difficult this year by the absence from the program of the "Timetable" of former shows); placing familiar lines in context ("There's lots of good fish in the sea"); and enjoying familiar tunes ("The Flowers that Bloom in the Spring," "Willow, Tit-Willow"). And then there are always those wonderful Gilbertian rhymes — like Yum-Yum, dumb, and succumb — if you can catch them. —Heller McAlpin

Theatre Intime Brings Warmth and Charm To Delightful Production of "Godspell"

PARABLE OF THE SOWERS is told by Holly Hackett in Theatre Intime's production of "Godspell." Tim Cavanaugh as Jesus guides her through the story.

By the time this review is printed it would not surprise me if most tickets for the remaining performances of "Godspell" at Murray Theatre were already sold. Theatre Intime has come up with a genuine hit, and word-of-mouth advertising will probably bring in customers faster than even rove reviews.

What is the magical brew responsible for the enduring charm of "Godspell"? Credit the genius who saw that slapstick comedy and true reverence are not only compatible but can be rather congenial bedfellows.

Children, more spontaneous than grownups, can laugh uproariously at something one minute and be serious the next. So with "Godspell" — the wild and wacky humor of the good Samaritan or the prodigal son may give way to the quiet words of Jesus being listened to with respect, and a moment later we are back amid the hilarity of parable and story netted out like inspired walking comic strips.

Another link between humor and reverence: as the players act together in one comic skit after another, one is aware of a growing sense of comradeship, of oneness in the group. The feeling carries over to the serious scene of Jesus's farewell; we accept the rightness of the embraces of friend with friend.

Probably what most people talk about in urging their friends to see "Godspell" is the very funny enactments of famous Biblical stories. There are five women and five men in the cast, and all play in every scene, as leaders or extras, as sheep or goats or withering vines, and their humor is contagious.

Funny with a Difference. "Godspell" is a very funny play, but with a difference. Any play in which the body of the crucified Jesus is carried silently out through a hushed audience is, obviously, different.

The music of the play is all-important. Some of the songs are haunting, such as "Day by Day" and "By My Side." "All for the Best" is strobe-lit mod. "We Beseech Thee" is strong. "Bless the Lord" and "Turn Back, O Man" reveal stunning choreography, including a marvelous kick-line encore for the latter. A five-piece band which, at intermissions, shows itself capable of blasting out the walls of the theatre furnishes admirably controlled accompaniment to the singers.

Setting and lighting are about perfect. The simple, strong set with its single circular aperture permits lights to ring changes on near and distant surfaces. The lighting itself is at various times humorous, sober, strident, quiet — whatever motion the scene calls for.

When actors, musicians and technicians have combined to produce such a winner, a reviewer may be justified in choosing to praise the organization rather than individuals. Two names, however, he cannot pass by. The director, Tom Cott, has been outstanding in his wise use of all the talent that has gone into the show. And admiration is due Tim Cavanaugh for making believable a Jesus whose dress and sometime activities are not those we have long associated with that character.

The Murray Theatre box office number is 452-8181. It is likely to be busy when you call. Perhaps theatre-goers should pray that Theatre Intime might decide to hold the show over another weekend beyond the scheduled dates of February 18 through 21.

'MELVIN AND HOWARD'

At McCarter. Jonathon Demme's "Melvin and Howard," a film which appeared on nearly every critic's ten-best list of 1980, will be screened at McCarter Theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday, February 23 and 24, at 7:30 and 9:15 p.m. each night.

Princeton graduate Bo Goldman won an Oscar for his screenplay, which recreates gas-station attendant Melvin Dummar's story about becoming a Good Samaritan in the desert. The bum he picks up and gives a lift turns out to be Howard Hughes, resulting in Dummar's being named a principal beneficiary in one of the spurious wills found after the multi-millionaire's death. Demme and Goldman present their film as Dummar's wildest dream, with the implicit understanding that it will never come true. Paul LeMat plays Dummar and Jason Robards plays Howard Hughes.

The film focuses on Melvin's crisis-ridden life: his two marriages to, and divorces from, the nutty Lynda (played by Mary Steenburgen) and the slightly more practical Bonnie (Pamela Reed); his uncertain career as a milkman, and his vision of a better tomorrow. Tickets cost $2.75 at the door. For further information call 921-8700, Monday through Saturday, noon to 6 p.m.

TEACH PRE-SCHOOL?

Drama Workshop Planned. "Creative Drama with Pre-Schoolers," a workshop for teachers and day-care workers, will be held Saturday, February 27 from 10 until 3 by teachers from Creative Theatre Unlimited. The workshop, to be led by Joan Robinson and Pat Pinciotti, will be held at the Unitarian Church, Route 206 and Cherry Hill Road.

The teachers will show how to structure dramatic play, while still allowing creative expression. Topics to be discussed include relaxation and concentration exercises, pantomime, role taking, expressing feelings, building environment and the construction of simple costumes.

The fee is $25, plus $3 for lunch. Registration may be made at 609-924-3489.

DANCE, JAZZ

At 'Showcase Club,' Princeton Performing Arts' "Showcase Club" (Witherspoon Street, in the building behind the Athenian Restaurant), will have jazz guitar Stanley Jordan this Friday and The Stickmen this Saturday. The Stickmen will play, starting at 8 p.m. For performance time Friday, call 924-1917 or 921-6271. On Saturday, February 27, Showcase will present The 5 Charms, a spinoff of The Stickmen.

The five Stickmen are guitar, sax, keyboard, bass and drums, with vocals. The group, originally from Philadelphia, has played that city, Washington, D.C. and various towns in the south. Last year, they recorded for Red Records in Amsterdam.

"BYE, BYE, BIRDIE"

At Hun. Remember the one about the rock 'n' roll singer about to be inducted into the Army. Right. It's "Bye Bye Birdie" and it will be given by The Janus Players of The Hun School on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, February 18-20 at 8 p.m. in the school.

OPERA HIGHLIGHTS
Program at Choir College. Faculty, alumni and students from Westminster Choir College will combine their talents for a benefit for the Senior Class of the College. A program of opera highlights will be sung in Bristol Chapel on the Westminster campus on Tuesday at 8. The public is invited.

A contribution of $2 at the door will be charged. The program, coordinated by Charles Renick, will contain solos, duets, quartet and chorus numbers.

Judith Nicosia, on the Westminster voice faculty, will sing a duet from "Mignon" by Thomas with Marvin Keenze and a duet from "The Merry Wives of Windsor" with Lois Laverty, both of whom are also voice faculty members. A duet from Norma will be presented by two students, Claire and Rita Mueller, sisters, from Bernardsville.

Two 1981 graduates, Jenny Kelly and Blair Wilson, will sing several duets and joined by Lisa White (a senior) and Allen Crowell, head of undergraduate conducting at the College, will sing the quartet from "Rigoletto." Others participating in the program will be James McKeever, bass, Alan Seale, baritone, and Frances Merritt, soprano — all on the voice faculty. A chorus of students, conducted by Karl Loveland will sing two Verdi choruses from "Nabucco" and "I Lombardi."

DEBUT CONCERT SET
By Chamber Choir. The Princeton University Camerata chamber choir and orchestra will make its debut in a concert Sunday, February 21, at 4 in McCosh 10 on the University campus. Janet Davis is the music director. The program will include the Stravinsky Mass and Bach Cantata 140, "Wachet Auf." General admission is $2, students $1.

CELLO, PIANO DUO
In Concert at Woolworth. Carol Buck, cellist with Jonathan Feldman, pianist, will give a concert on Sunday in the McAlpin Rehearsal Room on the University

Miss Buck has a master's degree from the Juilliard School and has performed with the Cambia Chamber Players, the Caecilian Chamber Society, the St. Luke's Chamber Ensemble and with the New York City Opera and the American Ballet Theatre. Both Miss Buck and Mr. Feldman have appeared in Princeton before under the auspices of the Friends. Miss Buck is currently teaching cello at Princeton.

Mr. Feldman, a graduate of the Juilliard School, began his formal musical training at the age of eight. He has appeared in solo recitals throughout the U.S. and has performed with such orchestras as the Orchestra da Camara under Antonia Brico, the Little Symphony Orchestra of St. Louis and the Boston Pops. In 1974 he was awarded a prize as best accompanist at the Fifth International Tchaikovsky competition in Moscow. The program on Sunday will include works by J.S. Bach, Chopin and Mendelssohn.

BAROQUE NIGHTSET

Sandy and Caroline Paton are accomplished folksingers, respected folklorists, and directors of Folk-Legacy Records. Their repertoire derives from the traditional music of the entire English-speaking world. Many rare folksongs and ballads have been collected during their travels. They accompany themselves with guitar and mountain dulcimer.

Sons David and Robin add Irish and Appalachian instrumental music to their programs, played on banjo, concertina, fiddle, mandolin, penny whistle and hammered dulcimer.

Admission is $4 for adults, $3.50 for students, $3 for Society members, $2 for children and senior citizens, with children under five free. There are no advance sales. Memberships are available at the door. For further information call 890-1146.

PETE SEEGER

At Rutgers. A free public concert will be given by folk singer Pete Seeger Monday, February 22 at 7:30 p.m. in Voorhees Chapel, Douglass College, New Brunswick. The chapel is on Chapel Drive near the junction of George Street and Nichol Avenue.

The folk singer, now an environmental activist as well as entertainer, has recorded more than 80 records. His 25th anniversary reunion with his old group, The Weavers, was released on records last year.

CONCERT AT YM-YWCA
By Little Orchestra Members. Fourteen members of The Little Orchestra of Princeton will perform a program of string oetets by Shostakovich, Villa-Lobos and Mendelssohn, in addition to the Concerto for two cellos in G minor by Vivaldi, on Sunday, February 28, at 2 at the Princeton YM-YWCA.

—Paddy Hickey, Clarks master shoemaker

In southern Ireland, where tradition is a way of life, Clarks Wallabees® are on Irish tradition.

Now, as always, every pair is made by hand by a master cobbler like Paddy Hickey

At just twelve years of age, upon the death of his father, Paddy Hickey went to work at the Wallabee factory in Kilkenny, where he learned the exacting art of making shoes by hand. Today he trains other craftsmen in the skill of handsewing Wallabees.

That's because Clarks knows that hand-crafting is the key to comfort in any shoe. And one of the secrets of Wallabee's renowned fit.

Music in Princeton

Soloists in the Vivaldi Concerto for Two Cellos will be Joan Thompson who plays in the Trenton Symphony, is on the faculty at Trenton State College and performs frequently in the Princeton area, and Dr. Donald Brodie, a physician from Yardley, PA, who is also a cellist with the Trenton Symphony and performer of chamber music.

Strings will accompany the Vivaldi assisted by Maureen Lloft, bass, and Clarence Chang, harpsichord.

Leading the group will be Dr. Laurence Taylor of Lambertville, who has been violinist with the London Philharmonia and is professor of music at Trenton State College. Doris Loder of Philadelphia is principal violist of the Philadelphia Orchestra Society and Wilmington Symphony Orchestras.

Princeton players include Peggy Lorfaux, violinist, who has come to Princeton after eleven years in Paris where she played with L'Orchestre Pasdeloup, and cellists Joan Thompson, Portia Sonnenfeld, Ted McClure, and Katrina Jones.

The concert is free, as part of the "Y's" Muscal Interludes series, and no tickets are required. Refreshments will be served.

PERFORMERS SOUGHT

For Arts Center Showcase. The Showcase Club (formerly Saturday Night Showease) has announced auditions for its spring season of musical and dramatic performances.

For the past nine months, the Club, located at the Princeton Performing Arts Center, 25A Witherspoon Street, (behind the Athenian Restaurant, has provided the area with a wide variety of individual and group performers, from jazz guitarist Stanley Jordan, to the Princeton Mime Company, to the Stickmen, a New Wave rock-and-roll group from Philadelphia.

Concert musicians of all types, (classical to the latest dance hands), and drama, mime, and improvisational groups are invited to inquire about auditioning for the Showcase Club, as are visual artists desiring to exhibit their work in conjunction with the performers. For further information, call the Center at 924-1917, or send descriptive material to the Performing Arts Center, 25A Witherspoon Street.

STERN TO PLAY BENEFIT

For NJSO. Violinist Isaac Stern will perform a benefit concert with the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra Wednesday, February 24, at 8 in Symphony Hall, Newark. Honorary co-chairmen for the concert and the reception following are Governor and Mrs. Thomas H. Kean.

After having been forced to cancel an entire season last year, the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra has been able to find enough support for a curtailed season during the current year.

The Orchestra's endeavors to keep going as a major cultural institution in the state came to the attention of Mr. Stern who has been associated with such activities since the saving of Carnegie Hall in the 1960's. The violinist offered to play the benefit on February 24 as a way of helping to reach the orchestra's goal.

Mr. Stern and the Orchestra, under the direction of Thomas Mihalak, will perform the "Romance in G Major" by Beethoven and the Violin Concerto in D Major by Johannes Brahms. The program will open with a suite from the ballet "Romeo and Juliet" by Prokofiev.

The Gala is being sponsored by the Orchestra's board of directors and the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra League. For information on ticket prices and charter bus service from Princeton to the concert and back, call Polly Miller, 921-8139, Ruth Thornton, 921-6283, or Harriet Vawter, 921-0295.

auditorium. Performances are open to the public.

Student directors Liz Kommer and Mary Jo Harris will be joined by Craig Evans (stage direction) and Bruce Dersch and Jayne Elfeth (musical direction.)

Principals in the 39-member cast are John Bohlinger as Conrad Birdie, the singer, Greg Frank as his agent; Monica Pica as his secretary, Rose; Amanda Horn as an all-American teenager, Kim MacAfee; Leslie Dreyer and Alex Namour as Kim's parents.

Members of the band include Pasquale Romano, Jim Harvey, Liam Jackson, Moira Howard, Bea Iluste, Nancy Ilanuschik, Rick Kintner and Doug O'Neil.

DANCE CLASSES SET

At Arts Center. The Princeton Performing Arts Center, 25A Witherspoon Street, will offer a 10-week introductory course in Middle Eastern dance, beginning Monday at 8:30 p.m.

Classes will be taught by Lonnie Heisman, who has taught and performed for the past 15 years under her professional name of Deshara. After training in modern and jazz ballet in the United States, Deshara visited relatives in Iran and studied native dancing there. She was one of the dancers in the American troupe invited by the Shah to perform for the 2,500th anniversary of the Persian monarchy.

Students may register at the Performing Arts Center, located in the parking area behind the Athenian Restaurant, or call 924-1917 or 443-4531.

What's Going on Here?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I have purchased fine shoes from a fine store — Brophy's — on Palmer Square for many years. The store has provided superb service in a day when good service is uncommon.

I understand that the store will be forced to close or move soon by a developer with new plans for the square. It is unthinkable to me that the owner of a store in place for 90 years faces sudden eviction.

What is going on in Princeton?

Ramp Too Expensive.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Have you seen the gigantic hole just west of the front steps of Borough Hall? I'm told it is the start of a ramp for the handicapped, and will cost something like $27,000. And all the time we are told Borough Council is laboring mightily to keep the budget down!

It seems to me that a perfectly serviceable ramp could be constructed of wood for a whole lot less than $27,000. It would take care of the handicapped, who rightly deserve such consideration without penalizing the rest of the citizens with an added tax burden.

Talbot's Not Needed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

One of the recent suggestions of the Collins Company in its efforts to make Princeton what it thinks it ought to be, is to invite a chiefly women's-wear, chiefly mail-order shop, The Talbots, to occupy one of its Palmer Square stores.

Princeton is well supplied with excellent shops for women's apparel — The English Shop, Clayton's, Landau, La Shack, Bellow's, Mary G. — to name some of them — shops that have been here a long time and deserve and need support — not competition — at this time.

The Talbots is an excellent concern, and through its widely-received catalogue people can order their merchandise if they so wish, but to add one of their resort-type outlet shops to Princeton's first-rate, established concerns is unnecessary and undesirable.

Do Stores Serve All?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In answer to various persons of this area, I feel I must respond to the comments of my fellow Princetonians, including an alumnus of my college.

These same retail establishments despite their long history of service to charity organizations, do not serve, I believe, all the residents of Princeton. The clientele of these stores do not seem to understand the plight of the poor in Princeton. The traditional Princeton is becoming too much of an expensive economically for increasing numbers of residents in both the Township and Borough.

I look forward to a quality development of downtown Princeton as with everyone else, with a sense of wonder, but I hope the developers will have considerations for all the residents of Princeton including the rich and poor. The basic human needs cannot be met without some sense of change of the attitude and the environment of this area.

Action on Rape Praised.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The problem of rape in Princeton is becoming serious. There have been several assaults on women during this past year and two attempts within the past two weeks.

On February 6th I joined several other women at a panel discussion held at the Princeton YWCA in conjunction with Princeton University and the Princeton Borough Police.

We learned not only how to take preventive measures but also how to defend ourselves, about warning devices available for purchase and about the rarely discussed 'date' and 'acquaintance' rape.

I want to publicly applaud this joint action by these three institutions. It is heartening to know that diverse community interests can unite so readily to get the job done.

There will be further discussion on this subject at the "Y" and I urge all teens (male and female) to attend along with other concerned residents of the area.

Knowledge, combined with caution, will offer the attackers fewer victims upon which to prey. Thanks to William Davall, Elizabeth Langan and Eleanor Pelta of Princeton University, Lt. Thomas Michaud of the Police Dept. and Arlene Berman of the YWCA.

Collins' Quotes Disputed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am the owner of the Princeton Music Center in Palmer Square, one of the four stores being ousted by Collins Development Corporation, new owners of the Square. I wish to discuss the statements of Mr. Harvie of that corporation, quoted in a recent article in The Trentonian.

Mr. Harvie says the three stores at the Nassau Street end of the square cannot "pull their own weight." Such a statement, it seems to me, comes with ill grace from the representative of a company which wants the state taxpayers to help it carry its weight.

Collins Development Corporation has asked the New Jersey Economic Development Authority for a tax free, low interest loan to build a garage. According to an earlier story in the Trenton Times, the request was rejected and "no reason was offered."

One board member, Yuki Moore Laurenti, said "Princeton's wealth does not fit with EDA's aim of targeting depressed areas." However, she said she would endorse such tax exempt financing if she could be convinced the garage was an integral part of Palmer Square's development plans, and it could not be financed by any other means. Granted, Mr. Harvie will be depressed if he doesn't get a tax exempt loan, but does that make Princeton a depressed area?

In an interview in TOWN TOPICS, Mr. Harvie is quoted as "suspecting" that one dissenting member of the NJ EDA "might have confused the Collins garage with the Spring Street garage." Does this mean that in spite of all the controversy generated recently in Princeton by the Spring Street garage, Mr. Harvie, his lawyer and his staff could not get across to the Authority member the difference between the two garages?

Thanks to An Unknown Man.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On Tuesday, February 9, my son and a friend's school bags were stolen off the road while they were waiting for their school bus. The bags were thrown out on Route 518 in the snow and rain. Some man from the Princeton area (the police won't tell me who), stopped in that crummy weather and picked up the bags and returned them to the police.

My son had an $80 jacket and $50 sneakers in there and I was really glad to get it back.

This man really deserves some extra thanks from grateful parents. How many people today would bother doing something nice like this with all the garbage going on in this world?

It would be nice if you could print something in your newspaper, hoping the man will read it. Thank you.

Bouquets For 'Trombones.'

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Bravo! Bravo! What a remarkable production I saw this past weekend at the John Witherspoon School presented by the Combined Choirs of the First Baptist Church entitled "God's Trombones." Talent emerged from the individual speakers to the choice of music rendered.

Of special note were two individuals who delivered eloquent sermons and displayed exceptional stage presence. They were Patricia Clark, whose dynamic "Crucifixion" sermon left everyone spellbound, and Stanley Stroman, whose second of two sermons "Judgement Day," left everyone standing and clapping for more. Hats off to all involved for it was truly a most memorable and enlightening evening!

The Eye Of The Beholder Appraisal Services

Wherein beauty lies. But appraising the value of beauty is a serious and exacting art. At LaVake, the eye of the beholder is a skilled, professional one, guided by talent and knowledge, and trained by years of experience. As members of the American Gem Society, LaVake experts have an intimate understanding of the thousand details involved in the achievement of quality. This understanding enables us to offer the highest standards of expertise and analysis through our broad spectrum of appraisal services.

We will appraise all jewelry as well as sterling flatware and holloware. Our service includes a complete evaluation of your items and a formal type written appraisal for your records. Appointments are necessary for all appraisals but, for your convenience and specific needs, we offer several arrangements:

- Come to LaVake and leave your items. They will be stored in our vault, fully insured and within three to five days you can pick them up, appraised and documented.
- Arrange for an appraisal in your home. Your appraisal will be sent to you within a week after our visit.
- Take advantage of our newest service tailored to expedite appraisals for those with time constraints. Schedule your appointment for any Monday or Tuesday, 8:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., when our appraisers will be available to evaluate your jewelry while you wait

Your type written appraisal will include a complete description of your items with all details fully noted and the price evaluation for each piece. The latter is based on the fair market value of the replacement cost of the items.

Our appraisal fee of $50.00 per hour covers both the appraiser's time and all accompanying paperwork. Please note there is an extra charge for home appraisals.

For a lesser fee, let us assist you in updating your previous appraisals, a sound idea for remaining current with any market changes.

For insurance purposes, for estates, for future sale or disposal of pieces, an expert appraisal is a must. However valuable your jewelry, pride of ownership is enhanced by the pleasure of use and that pleasure is preserved when you know that what you cherish is protected. Our appraisal services provide that protection.

of the nominees selected by the nominating committee. "These individuals have demonstrated, as in other civic endeavors, their selfless dedication as volunteers for the Medical Center and the patients it serves," they assert. "We know you will agree that trusteeship is a difficult position of great responsibility."

Mr. Finley proposes the division of the Emergency Room into two sections, one for actual emergencies and one for problems that are not necessarily emergencies. He also suggests that Fete funds be used to help the First Aid Squad and that the Medical Center expand services to the community while at the same time cutting costs.

The Rev. Dr. Tennie says that his years as an institutional chaplain have developed in him a sensitivity to the feelings of those who, because of circumstances, are labeled shut-in or shut-out. He suggests that trustees of any institution delivering human services should possess a compassion and a sensitivity which would enable him or her to relate to both the employees and the patients without regard to economic status, racial origin or religious preference. He expresses concern for the Medical Center employees, their working conditions and level of wages.

Miss Wood protests the fact that there is not a Roman Catholic on the board and says she is "appalled" at what she says is the 80 percent turnover rate of the nursing staff at Princeton House. She also protests Fete funds being used to build a storage shed rather than going to the First Aid Squad and says that if elected she will act as an "ombudsman."

Peter Sigler, 89, of High Bridge was issued a summons by Ptl. Anthony Gaylord, after two witnesses told the officer that the Sigler car had run a red light. Both Sigler and the other driver, Christine D. St. John, 283 Prospect Avenue, were treated at Princeton Medical Center for head lacerations.

The St. John car, traveling east on Faculty Road, had stopped for the light and was proceeding into the intersection when it was struck on the left side by the Sigler car. The impact forced her car through a fence into a field on the east side of Washington Road. Both cars had to be towed away.

Skidding Accident. When Edouard L. Nelson, 24, 240 John Street, attempted to stop as he approached the foot of Library Place last Wednesday morning, his car began to skid 41 feet from Mercer Street.

It jumped the curb, rammed a stop sign and then, skidding sideways, struck a car operated by Walter O. Gibson, 52, of Willingboro. Ptl. Victor Fasanella noted in his report that both roadways were icy and had not been sanded. He ticketed Mr. Nelson for careless driving.

After impact, Mr. Nelson's car was pushed 21 feet into a tree. His 1969 sedan was a total loss, while the entire front end of the Gibson car was damaged. Mr. Nelson was treated at the Medical Center for a fractured wrist; Mr. Gibson for bruises and contusions of the left leg.

TO INTRODUCE BUDGET At Committee Session. Township Committee will introduce its 1982 budget this Wednesday during the regular meeting at 8 p.m. in the Valley Road Building.

Although full figures were not available at press time, Township Administrator, Joe Nini, said that there would be a 4 cent increase from 30 cents to 34 cents in the local purposes tax rate. Making certain assumptions about what the school and county taxes will be, Mr. Nini said he projected a 17 cent increase in the overall tax rate, from $2.08 to $2.25, or an increase of 8.2 percent.

The Board of Public Utilities said the three-million-gallon tower is needed to make sure Elizabethtown's customers have adequate water supplies during peak periods. The tank has been planned for a half-acre plot set back 245 feet from Mt. Lucas. The tank, 28½ feet high, will be 146 feet in diameter and screened by a landscape buffer.

JUVENILE IS ARRESTED
In PHS Rest Room. A 17-year old juvenile from West Virginia was arrested in a Princeton High School rest room Tuesday morning and charged with trespassing and possession of a weapon. He was later turned over to William Clark, the Borough juvenile officer, for processing.

Ptl. Randy Sutton and Ptl. Glen Stanton had responded to a 10:51 call from the high school, reporting a juvenile was trespassing at the school. When told to leave, he ran from the officers, who later arrested him in a downstairs rest room. Sheathed in a case on his belt under his jacket, police said, was a hunting knife. The police investigation is continuing.

CLAY STREET MAN FINED
For Assault. In Township criminal court last week, Larry L. Lopez, 29 Clay Street, was fined $275 and received a 30-day suspended sentence to the Mercer County Correction Center for simple assault. In addition, he was ordered to pay $25 to the Violent Crime Compensation Board. He received the identical fine and sentence for assaulting a police officer while resisting arrest. In a third charge of assault, involving an assault on his girl friend, Lopez was fined $100 and $25 for the VCCB. He was also placed on a year's supervised probation. In traffic court, Oleh L. Sochan, 40-13 Hunters Glen, Plainsboro, was fined $40 for a stop sign infraction.

RESTROOM DAMAGED
By Vandals. A men's rest room located next to the Acme Market in the Princeton Shopping Center was visited last week by vandals.

Police report that someone entered the room, tore doors off the stalls and tossed paper around, causing an estimated $350 in damage. The incident took place between 1:30 and 3 Thursday afternoon.

SMOKE BUT NO FIRE
At Beauty Salon. Fire Chief Raymond Wadsworth and police investigating a report last week of smoke at the New Look Beauty Salon in the Princeton Shopping Center, found smoke but no fire.

A belt in a heating unit had fallen off, police said, causing the unit to overheat and give off smoke.

Annoying Calls Reported
During the past month, eight to nine Township residents according to police estimate, have received an annoying telephone call. The caller identifies himself as a police officer from the Hightstown area or claims he is from the State Police investigating obscene material. He then becomes personal and starts asking intimate questions, police say. Hang up if you receive such a call, recommends Chief Frederick Porter, and call police immediately. If the calls persist, he urges victims to contact the local telephone business office for assistance.

TO MARK ANNIVERSARY Of Tap Room Integration.

The Princeton Area Chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) will celebrate the 12th anniversary of the event that lowered the sexist bars at the Nassau Inn's Yankee Doodle Tap Room by meeting in the Tap Room Tuesday at 5. A belated birthday celebration in honor Susan B. Anthony will also mark the occasion.

It was on February 23, 1970, that a group of women and men calmly entered the "men-only" Tap Room for lunch. They were served after a short interval, although the Inn's manager stated to the press, "...We as management cannot recommend this room to women." He also admitted that business groups which included women had been asked to eat elsewhere in the Inn.

The Tap Room's successful sexual integration occurred just a year after women were first admitted to Princeton University. Although other, more serious, matters took precedence among NOW members, this event provided a point close to home around which to rally.

Among those expected to be present at the celebration Tuesday are Mercer County Freeholder Barbara Sigmund, NOW New Jersey State Coordinator Christine Carmody-Arey, and Dr. Jennifer S. Macleod, president of the local NOW chapter in 1970.

All people concerned with equal rights for women are urged to attend the celebration. Those who need a ride or wish further information may call 921-9294.

CONTEST PLANNED

For Young Writers, Illustrators. The second annual contest for aspiring young writers and illustrators, grades 7, 8, and 9, will be held by the Princeton Chapter of the National League of American Pen Women.

Instructions for entering will be available in libraries and schools. Librarians will collect entries by the deadline at closing time on Thursday, March 11.

Original short stories containing a maximum of 2,000 words will be accepted. Separate prizes will be awarded for writing and illustration. The stories may be illustrated by the author or by someone else. There must be four to eight illustrations per story.

All entrants will receive a certificate, and the winning story will be published, with a picture of the winner in each category.

First, second, and third prizes for stories include $30 from Pen Women, a $20 gift certificate from Nassau Hobby Center, and a $15 gift certificate from Cranbury Book Worm.

Prizes for illustrators include $30 from Pen Women, a $20 gift certificate from Triangle Art Center, and a $15 gift certificate from Micawber Book Store.

MORVEN IS TOPIC

Of Lecture At Library. The Historical Society, in cooperation with the Public Library, will sponsor a three-part lecture series on Morven and Drumthwacket during February and March. All lectures are free and open to the public.

The lectures will be given in the meeting room of the Library on Thursday mornings at 10:30. The first lecture, on Thursday, February 25, will feature Morven and will be given by Constance Greiff.

Mrs. Greiff, an architectural historian, preservation consultant and director of Heritage Studies, is well acquainted with Morven. She has revised Alfred Hoyt Bill's book, "A House Called Morven." In addition, "Princeton Architecture," of which Mrs. Greiff is the co-author, also deals with Morven.

The lecture, which will be supplemented by a slide presentation, will deal with the history of Morven as well as with its architectural merit.

NUCLEAR EFFECTS

Topic of Film Discussion. "The Last Epidemic," a film depicting the medical effects of nuclear weapons and nuclear war, will be shown on Sunday, February 28 at 3 p.m. in Room 306, Nassau Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Henry Powsner, a radiologist at Princeton Medical Center, will lead the discussion following the film. The public is invited, and physicians, nurses, and public health personnel are urged to attend this fourth in a series of Talk-togethers sponsored by the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament.

BROWER TO SPEAK

On Campus. Noted author and naturalist David Brower will speak Wednesday, February 24, at 8 in McCosh 10 on the Princeton University campus.

Mr. Brower, formerly the national director of the Sierra Club, now heads Friends of the Earth, a national environmental lobbying organization which he founded in 1969. His visit is sponsored by a broad coalition of groups from throughout the Princeton area and is coordinated by the Princeton Education Center at Blairstown.

Mr. Brower's presentation will herald the beginning of a new organization — the Princeton Environmental Network (PEN) — which will function as a coordinator for organizations which have as a common characteristic an interest in the natural environment. Members of PEN will include academic departments, citizen groups, student groups from both universities and area schools, as well as established environmental organizations.

By distributing a monthly newsletter including a complete calendar of environmental events, the Princeton Environmental Network will help organizations reach further into the community with information on lectures, programs, exhibits or activities related to the natural environment.

PUPPETSHOW PLANNED

At Nursery School. Folk Tales from different cultures will be presented at the University League Nursery School on Sunday, February 21, when the Folk Tale Puppeteers will perform the Russian story of Philipka and Baba Yaga and the humorous tale of The Straw, The Bean and the Coal.

Using marionettes conducted by hand, the puppeteers, Ruth Lieberherr, Linda Lombardi and Caroline Phinney have performed for children at the Princeton Public Library, Rocky Hill Library and various schools in the area.

Show times are 12:30 and 1:30 at 151 Broadmead. Proceeds from the show will be used to support the school's scholarship fund. Tickets, available at the door, are $2.

INSTRUCTORS SOUGHT

By Heart Association. The American Heart Association is seeking instructors of dance, aerobics, or exercise to participate in "Dance for Heart."

The event is scheduled for

May, and is designed to promote the benefits of dance, aerobics and exercise on the heart and cardio-vascular system. The event will also help raise funds for the Heart Association to support its programs of research, community service, and public and professional health education.

Instructors wishing more information, may call the Heart Association at 394-5355 or 882-7722.

MEETING DATE CHANGED

Clubs and Organizations

The Political Action Committee of the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament will meet this Wednesday at 8 in the George Thomas Room of Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street.

This committee has set itself two large tasks for the rest of this year. One is rallying the public to demonstrate to the Second Special United Nations Session on Disarmament in June and July that specific progress must be made in the reduction of nuclear weapons. A giant demonstration has been planned in New York City on June 12 to focus the attention of the world on the Disarmament Session.

The second is getting a referendum proposal on a mutual U.S.-U.S.S.R. freeze to nuclear weapons on the N.J. ballot for the November election and to get it passed by the electorate. Many hands are needed for both of these projects. Those who have been galvanized into wanting to do something by the recent New Yorker articles are especially welcome.

The Rev. Cynthia Jarvis is chairman of this committee, the Rev. Robert Moore is coordinator of the Coalition

IT'S NEW To Us

SERVICE A TRADITION

At LaVake. "During a period when many feel that the quality of service is declining everywhere we would like to do a little bit more for our customers. We think they deserve it," comments Samuel Kind, owner of LaVake of 54 Nassau Street. This continuing tradition which has earmarked the shop's policy since it opened in 1877 has expanded to include services which will save customers a great deal of time.

Protection of silver and jewelry is unfortunately a high consideration these days, especially for heirloom pieces which are impossible to replace, so LaVake has begun an excellent appraisal service for its clients, mindful of their busy schedules. Professional appraisal of sterling silver flatware and hollowware will relieve the concerns of many who leave their homes with reluctance. Stories of theft need worry you no longer because your items will be completely evaluated and a formal written appraisal for your records will be included for insurance purposes.

Such evaluations may be done at the store, where you may leave your items by appointment to be stored in a vault and documented within five days, or you may arrange for an appraisal in your home. The shop's newest service "tailored to expedite appraisals for those with time constraints" is an evaluation, also by appointment, on Mondays and Tuesdays from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., while you wait.

The rest of the shop will be opened at the early hour on these days as well, when customers are invited to join the staff and other shoppers for coffee and croissants, a pleasant way to start the day. The shop is open until 8:30 p.m. on Thursday for those who cannot make it by 8 a.m.

Bridal Gifts. A practical gift for a bride from the silver department might be one of the many different shapes of silver-plate pyrex-lined casseroles and pie dishes. A triple-rectangular chafing dish would be ideal for a buffet party, or a mini-casserole complete with a pyrex liner would serve a soufflé for one or a hot hors d'oeuvre dip.

LAVAKE AT 8: Samuel Kind, owner of La Vake, has introduced a number of new services at the shop. Customers enjoy coffee and croissant from 8 a.m. on Monday and Tuesdays and may wait while an appraisal is being done.

Other gifts of silver in plate or sterling include: a variety of salt and pepper shakers; reverse bowls; frames; trivets; pitchers; and coffee pots.

A new line of hammered pewter is most becoming and is increasingly favored at LaVake. Especially pretty is their large hunt bowl which would serve punch, salad or even a chocolate mousse.

Thoughtful small gifts are a specialty at the shop. Combs of silver, a silver-handled magnifying glass, book marks, letter openers and calendars are among the many inexpensive gift items.

Men are not forgotten at La Vake. Cufflinks, money clips, chains, medals, identifications bracelets, silver or gold keys and key rings are good gift ideas for the man in your life. Attractive equipment such as tongs and ice buckets for the bar are good house presents for men.

The china and crystal department continues to carry a superb selection of the traditional and more recent patterns available. Why hassle at a city bridal registry or the gift section when shopping is so pleasant right here? Beautiful crystal by Waterford, Baccarat, and Lalique can be found.

Even small gift items, such as napkin rings by Waterford, are on display. All-purpose wine glasses at $6.50 each; a set of six hors d'oeuvres, each with a different French storefront for $30; or one of many bud vases are appropriate gifts for a bride or a hostess.

For Easter. The Easter season will soon be upon us and La Vake is ready with an service awards, and other mementos with the company logo. The corporate gifts are taken from the shop's entire stock, thus offering a diverse selection. One-of-a-kind designs have been very popular as well as old favorites such as digital clocks, wall clocks, desk sets, bowls and pen sets by Cross.

A terrific assortment of sterling and gold-filled fashion jewelry has been bought by LaVake for the spring and summer season. Reasonably priced jewelry, such as beaded bracelets, earrings, and chains begins at around $6. A stunning collection of George Jensen sterling silver jewelry was sold out during the Christmas season and has been reordered. The contemporary Danish designs include: bangle bracelets, unusual necklaces; and chokers. Much of the new jewelry features the American Indian designs with turquoise and lapis which is considered to be the latest in fashion.

Exquisite amethysts set in gold and platinum are now on display at LaVake and would be the ultimate gift for a February birthday. Other precious and semi-precious stones such as emeralds, diamonds, and rubies set in handsome pins, earrings, and rings or sold as pendants are known to be of the finest quality. What could be a more suitable wedding or anniversary gift to be passed on down through generations in a family? Gold jackets for diamond or pearl pierced earrings are available.

Looking ahead to spring and early summer, when all of those special occasions are celebrated, LaVake's gift section is well-stocked with gifts ranging from ten dollars and up.

There is good news for the collectors of Cybis porcelains which steadily increase in value. Many new pieces have arrived including Robin, child of spring, with a handmade head wreath of wildflowers; the Karina ballerina; the little boy Jamie with his basket of

FOR COMPUTER BUFFS

Clancy Paul. The best news is that there is a new computer store right here in Princeton. Clancy Paul, the Princeton Computer Store, opened late last month in the Princeton Shopping Center, filling a need which, according to its owners, has been lacking in the community for some time. Co-owners Robert Clancy and Glenn Paul decided that it was time to offer another kind of computer education to customers.

"There is a kind of technophobia prevalent when it comes to learning about computers," explains Mr. Paul, whose background in the field goes back to his days at Princeton University, from which he graduated in 1979.

"This is not a high-tech store. We like to assist customers to think about their computers as an important resource in their lives, to suit their individual needs, as a utility rather than just as a number cruncher," he continues.

The Clancy Paul Computer Store is unlike most computer stores in the area in that its atmosphere is not in the least intimidating. The shop is attractively set up with three rooms for demonstration. Similar to the sound studios found in stereo centers, the demonstration rooms offer comfort and privacy in which to learn about the various computers available at the shop.

"What is worse than sitting down and trying to begin a program while some youngster next to you is watching over your shoulder and can do it ten times faster?" jokes Mr. Paul. It's not really a joke because many people are reserved about their ability to learn computer technology.

"Computer language is so logical that it's easy for children to learn," continues Mr. Paul, who began stock and data charting with the IBM 370 at the University where he majored in English. At Dow Jones he worked on various projects including a shopping at home-home banking project which will surely be the wave of the future. As president, Mr. Paul brings to his new venture a considerable experience in the marketing of financial information, investment analysis, and program experience.

"We put our names on the door because we want people to know that they are dealing with us as people, not a franchise or a company store, and that we will stand by our products, serve them, lease them and provide everything needed for successful use," he promises. The shop is an independently owned and operated dealership, while its leasing facility is a completely different company. Computers are also sold there by application. A full-time technical staff services everything leased or sold.

There is more good news in store at Clancy Paul, which plans to open a Princeton micro computer learning center in the near future. The ability to expand its facilities is fortunate but the center will not be used as a sales tool, rather as a separate corporation for teaching purposes. As a service to the community, it will offer courses in specific uses such as legal and accounting programming. "Our biggest difficulty is finding instructors," says Mr. Paul who hopes to introduce video training tapes to the learning center which has ample classroom space. The newly-formed Princeton Computer Investment Club will meet one Thursday a month to discuss financial computer analysis. Several computer-oriented groups in the Princeton area meet at the store in the evenings.

Customers are encouraged to come in and learn about the three computer systems set up at Clancy Paul. The Xerox 820, though a personal computer, is well geared for business uses such as: word processing, general ledger; inventory updates, job costing, word processing and automatic forecasting.

Zenith Data system's computer is a good package for word and information processing, an economical business terminal.

Products improve with the rampant pace of computer technology. The Apple III on view at the shop is said to be an even better analytical tool with more characters, higher quality graphics, a more functional keyboard, and a larger memory to mention a few features. Many of the extras on the Apple II which has enjoyed so much success, have been built into its successor which stores at least one-half a million characters in its live memory.

Naturally, a fine selection of software is available at Clancy Paul. Among the newer programs sold is the Dow Jones Market Analyzer.

The shop also services the game market. Apple programs abound, such as the amazing Visicalc. Because it relates positions to each other on a vertical and horizontal spread sheet, calculations of profit and loss, demographic statistics, job costing, and income statements for example can change when a single position is changed thus readjusting every other position instantaneously. This saves hundreds of hours of work, faultlessly. Store hours are Monday through Saturday from 9 to 6.

MEET PADDY HICKEY

At Hult's Saturday. Paddy Hickey, a master cobbler as Irish as his name, will be at Hult's Shoes, 140 Nassau Street, all day Saturday to demonstrate how Wallabees, a comfortable, soft leather shoe that conforms to the exact shape of the wearer's foot, are made by hand.

Upon the death of his father when Mr. Hickey was 12, he went to work at the Wallabee factory in Kilkenny, where today he trains other craftsmen in the skill of hand-sewing Wallabees. He is in the country to represent Clarks of England, the manufacturer of Wallabees, at an international shoe exhibition in New York.

"This is the first time we've ever done anything like this at Hult's and we're excited about it," commented Ralph Hult Jr. During the day, Hult's will offer 10 percent off all its Clarks shoes.

If you've been thinking about giving yourself a home perm, there's something you should know. # Tiger Quintet Must Win 6 of Final 7 Contests To Avoid First Losing Season Here in 26 Years

There are strong indications that Pete Carril may be in a state of shock over the play of his Princeton basketball team. Can anybody blame him?

After another frightening overtime loss, this time to Harvard Saturday afternoon, the Tiger coach commented: "We can't win the Ivy league any more. I can't remember being out of it this early."

The fact is Princeton is still very much in the race mathematically. With its win over Dartmouth Sunday, the Orange and Black is 3-4, not that far behind first-place Penn, which is 5-2. And the Quakers must play in Jadwin February 23.

What Carril has also forgotten is that just three years ago, his team was no better than 2-5 in league play at this

Five of the seven remaining games are at home, including two this Friday and Saturday against Yale and Brown, and next Tuesday against the Quakers. Last month when the Orange and Black began its Ivy portion of the schedule, it whipped Yale in New Haven. The following night it lost to Brown 58-53, and the slide downhill began.

The Elis and Bruins got a shock themselves last weekend. Both lost twice on the road to Cornell and Columbia, and fell out of a tie for first. They now are 4-3; Yale is 7-12 overall, and Brown 4-14, having won only in the league.

First Loss Since 1971. This is turning out to be a season of firsts, and another was recorded Saturday in Harvard's 53-49 triumph. It was the first victory for the Cantabs in basketball against Princeton since 1971, and only the second time in 27 games that Carril has lost to Harvard.

The loss, itself, had a familiar ring. After an even first half (17-17), Princeton patiently built up a seven-point lead, 39-32, with 8:20 remaining.

Then Harvard began to close the gap, scoring six points during the last four minutes, while the Tigers could manage just one. With the Crimson ahead 44-43, Craig Robinson could only sink one of two foul shots to tie the score. The game went into overtime when Harvard missed a last-second shot.

The extra session produced the usual number of missed opportunities and turnovers by the Orange and Black. Robinson hit on a lay-up to give the Tigers a brief lead, 46-44, but the home team scored the next four points, two coming on a steal from Billy Ryan, to lead, 48-46.

Robinson was fouled with 48 seconds left, but could only make the front end of his one-and-one. Princeton was forced to foul after that and Harvard hit on one of two to lead 49-47. Kevin Mullen had one last chance to tie the game, but his jumper missed. The Crimson sank four more free throws, sandwiched around a basket by Gordon Enderle to end the game.

Is Robinson to blame for missing those crucial free throws? All he did was score 25 points, more than half his team's output, on six for 11 shooting from the floor, and 13 of 16 from the foul line. He also grabbed a team high five rebounds.

With all their problems, it's comforting to know that the Tigers will not fall into the cellar this season. That spot is held by Dartmouth, which has not won a league contest in seven tries.

Despite its problems, the Orange and Black had a fairly easy time of it Sunday, winning 59-45. Overcoming a cold start, Princeton took a 19-15 halftime lead, and increased that after the intermission.

Mullen was awarded his first career start, and responded with 16 points, a career high. "The reason we started Moon (Mullen) was because we needed a little more offense in the line-up," commented Carril, in his biggest understatement of the season.

Manhattan Victor. Earlier last week Princeton lost its first game ever to Manhattan, 52-39. The Tigers had won 12 straight in the series dating back to 1909.

Big gun for the Jaspers was freshman forward Bill Cain, who scored his team's first 19 points in the second half to turn a 23-20 deficit into a 39-33 lead. Cain finished with 28, after being limited to just four in the first half.

The home team actually won the game at the foul line, hitting on 22 of 28 attempts, including their last 10 points as the Orange and Black tried in vain to gain possession. The Tigers were just five of seven from the line.

Once again, there was no one who could take charge on offense to keep them within reach after Cain started to connect. Robinson had 11 and Enderle 10, but no one could do much down the stretch.

TIGERS LOSE 4-3

To St. Lawrence. Close to sixty minutes of good hockey doesn't always produce a victory, the Princeton hockey team found out Monday night, when it lost to St. Lawrence, 4-3 in Baker Rink.

point. That year, when Penn won with a 13-1 record, the Tigers really were out of it early.

Nobody has the championship in hand now, and it is not likely to be decided until the first weekend in March.

What Carril is really saying is the hell with the math, my boys just are not going to put it together this year. And I can't ever remember a season as bad as this one. There is more than a faint ring of truth to his feelings.

In that 1977-78 season, however, Princeton was 9-10 at this point, not 7-12, and the team won five of its last seven to finish 14-12. To avoid Carril's first losing season here, and the team's first since 1955-56, the Tigers will have to capture six of their last seven. That's asking a lot.

Triumph over Dartmouth Here, Brown's Upset of Yale, Keep Alive Hopes of Tiger Hockey Team for League Title

The season so far has been something of a disappointment, but there is still plenty of good hockey left in coach Jim Higgins' Princeton team.

Last Friday night the Tigers blew out a disorganized Dartmouth sextet, 7-2, to keep their Ivy title hopes alive. Those hopes were strengthened when Yale was upset on its own ice the following night by Brown.

The Elis at 4-2-1 are still on top with nine points, Princeton and Harvard, which knocked off Cornell in overtime, are tied for second with eight apiece. Yale and Princeton have three games left to play, Harvard has four.

Yale and Harvard will meet in a key contest at New Haven this Saturday, after which the Elis will play Dartmouth away and Cornell home. Harvard will play the rest of its games at home, while the Tigers have the toughest assignment, three games on the road.

The Tigers must play Harvard and Dartmouth on successive nights the weekend after this, and finish in Providence against Brown on March 6. In the meantime, they will play their last games at Baker this week, meeting Boston University Wednesday at 7:30, Holy Cross Saturday at 3 and Clarkson next Tuesday at 7:30.

fering through another losing season, and is no better than 5-9-3 in Division I play. Holy Cross, a Division II team, is 13-12-2 overall. Clarkson, however, is Division I's top team with a record of 11-3-1 through last weekend.

Princeton has just six games left in this season, but it still has a chance to erase some of the disappointment. Like the Ivy championship, chances for the ECAC playoffs are remote, but a strong finish could earn the team a .500 record, something it has not achieved in 14 years.

What's needed is the ability to play good hockey consistently, one game after another, not here and there. One good period per game against a team like Yale or Cornell is not enough, and Princeton seems unable to maintain its level of intensity for longer stretches.

Dartmouth Devoured. Against Dartmouth last Friday, Princeton was in command for two out of three periods, and that proved to be more than enough, in a hard-hitting game that saw 23 penalties called, 12 on Princeton.

Higgins' first line of Drew Forbes at center, and Dave Clark and Ken Koenig at wings, had a big night, with five goals and eight assists. It was the pattern early, scoring on its first shift, just 1:34 into the game, when Clark beat Dartmouth goalie Carey Gandy at short range from the left side. Forbes and Koenig picked up assists.

The Orange and Black held on to that 1-0 lead for the next 13 minutes, before scoring twice more in a two-minute span. Tom Shustarich got the second goal at 14:16 when his shot hit Gandy and rolled in. At 16:04 it was Clark with his second, swooping in alone and beating Gandy to the stick side from 10 feet.

Perhaps thinking that their 3-0 advantage would be sufficient, the Tigers spent most of the second period on the defensive, and often short-handed as well. The Green outshot the home team 22 to 7, and closed to within one, 3-2, with five minutes left. The goal came when Shaun Teevens scored on a break away, that materialized while the Tigers were in the middle of a line change. Five minutes earlier, Bob Cronin had scored the first Dartmouth goal, flipping a backhand shot by Ron Dennis.

The visitors never got any closer. Less than two minutes later, Steve MacDonald turned the momentum around when he fired the puck through Gandy's pads from 15 feet out on a two-on-one rush.

That sent the Tigers off the ice at the end of the second period with a 4-2 margin and the Green was through for the evening. The third period was all Orange and Black; Clark got his hat trick at 12:21, and Forbes scored twice in 62 seconds a short time later to complete the rout.

Neither team distinguished itself with its several power play opportunities; Dartmouth was zero for six, Princeton managed just one goal (Forbes second) with the same number of chances.

Another undistinguished performer was Gandy, who let in at least two or three goals he shouldn't have. The sophomore goaltender is a distinct rarity in hockey circles, a black hailing from Huntsville, Alabama.

the Fighting Saints broke a 3-3 tie with a goal at 11:46 of the final frame.

The Orange and Black took a 1-0 lead at 9:27 of the first period when Ken Koenig beat goalie Gray Weicker, son of Connecticut Senator Lowell Weicker, with a 30-foot shot, after breaking down alone on the left side. Drew Forbes had done a nice job of sliding the puck to Koenig in center ice to send him on his way. Dave Clark picked up an assist also.

Despite some sloppy play during the final four minutes of that period, Princeton managed to hold on to its slim margin until the buzzer sounded. However, just 41 seconds into the second, after again that good hockey need Princeton had hit the post with not be rough. Dennis was a shot, the visitors tied the score, deflecting a centering Weicker, 25.

They made it 2-1 four minutes later with Sean Sherman serving two minutes for holding. The Tigers' first line struck again only 16 seconds later, with Forbes beating Weicker from close range.

More than 11 minutes elapsed before the next goal, which put the Tigers on top again. Ross Lambert dug out a pass from defenseman Rob Scheuer from behind the net and fed the puck in front to Ed Lee, who blasted the puck in from six feet away.

The Tigers missed taking the 3-2 lead into the dressing room when St. Lawrence tied the score at 18:02 of the second period. Dennis had no chance on the shot, when a defensive lapse left two men open in front of the net for an easy goal.

The fast-paced contest managed to hold on to its slim margin until the buzzer sounded. However, just 41 seconds into the second, after again that good hockey need Princeton had hit the post with not be rough. Dennis was a shot, the visitors tied the score, deflecting a centering Weicker, 25.

HUN UPSET, 66-64
By Hamilton. Hun School's second matchup with a public high school ended as the first had — a frustrating loss for the Raiders. Hamilton made it 2-0 for the public side Monday with a 66-64 victory.

The loss was especially rough on Hun because its high scorer last season, Paul Franzoni, who has been sidelined most of this season with a recurrent back injury, came off the bench to score 18 points. Cleared just three days ago for practice by doctors, Franzoni reinjured his back with 4:24 left in the game when he tried to block a breakaway layup. He had to sit out the remainder of the game.

Eleven points were scored in the frantic final 31 seconds. Two free throws by the Hornets' Chris Rowe gave the visitors a 63-58 edge. Jon Tesser's corner jumper eight seconds later cut the margin to three, but Tony Stevenson, fouled immediately by Hun, sank one of two free throws to give Hamilton a 64-60 cushion.

After Paul Pintella's layup with 12 ticks left brought Hun to within two, 64-62, Stevenson was again fouled and this time he calmly sank both shots. A jumper from the top of the key with two seconds left by Hun's Mark Murphy made it a 66-64 final.

Hamilton (8-12), which led 35-28 at the half, took a six-point lead into the final period. Hun managed to tie it at 56-44 with 3:28 left but was never able to take the lead.

Welcome!

We have talked about "cardiovascular fitness." How important it is to have a strong heart. We would like to discuss this week how good aerobic activities can make a difference in your cardiovascular fitness.

Let's talk about aerobic dancing and how that can help your heart and lungs interact. What exactly is aerobic dancing?

"Aerobic" refers to the amount of oxygen that is consumed during an exercise event. "Dancing" is a pattern of steps executed to the beat of music. Combined, the two become a blend of informal modern dance steps, stylized jogging and an exercise program, which seeks to achieve good circulation for its participants.

Aerobic dancing is designed to increase the pulse rate to about 180 beats per minute, increase circulation and create a feeling of well-being.

Each class begins with a 15-minute warm-up session to loosen up muscles and increase circulation; each class ends with a 15-minute cool-down wherein the pulse is gradually reduced to 120 beats per minute. The average pulse rate is between 80 and 120 beats per minute for a resting person.

At Princeton Nautilus Fitness Center, because we know how important it is for you to have good cardiovascular fitness, we offer aerobic dancing to our members three times a week. It is a lot of fun and very beneficial to your overall good health and appearance.

Sports in Princeton

Hun, in defeat, produced a balanced scoring attack. In addition to Franzoni's 18 and Murphy's 12, Tesser added to points and Kris Wronski and Pintella nine each. Hamilton's Randy Peterson led all scorers with 21. Hun is now 15-5.

2 CLOSE ONES, 2 WINS

For PHS Five. A week ago the Princeton High School basketball team won the game it had to win to clinch a berth in the annual state post-season tournament — a mark, noted PHS coach Marv Trotman, of a good team.

Last week, the Little Tigers showed again that they can win the close ones, another mark, some would maintain, of a good team. If so, the Blue and White may be a very good team indeed in the state competition.

In two Colonial Valley Conference games last week, PHS held on to nip West Windsor, 57-55, and earlier edged Hopewell Valley, 52-51, on a Kyle Hayes' layup with two seconds remaining.

PHS, over .500 for the first time in two years with an 8-7 mark, will wind up its regular season with two games, entertaining Hun this Wednesday evening at 7:30 and opposing Lawrence Friday evening at 8 at the Cardinals' gym.

PHS vs. Ewing. On Monday, PHS, seventh-seeded among the eight participating teams, will meet fourth-seeded Ewing at 5 p.m. at Mercer County College in the opening round of the Mercer County Basketball Tournament. In other first round matchups first-seeded McCorristin will meet eighth-seeded Hightstown, second-seeded Trenton will meet sixth-seeded Hun, and third-seeded Notre Dame will meet fifth-seeded Lawrenceville.

Seedings are based on a team's record, common opponents and the strength of schedule. In two meetings this year, PHS has split with Ewing, capturing a 59-57 thriller and earlier losing, 67-43.

Against West Windsor, Larry McKellar and Kyle Hayes combined for 35 points, McKellar hitting 18, to keep PHS on top. The Little Tigers started the fourth period with a seven-point advantage but with eight seconds left, WW had cut that to 55-53.

Tim Kennedy then sank a pair of free throws to put PHS up, 57-53. Two ticks left on the clock when John Togliaferrri scored on a layup for the Pirates. The visitors tried to pressure PHS on the inbound pass but the Little Tigers were able to get the ball in play and escape with the win. In its two meetings with WW, PHS won both games by a total of five points.

West Windsor's Dave Hall led all scorers with 28, 18 coming in the second half. Kennedy finished with 10 for PHS.

Bulldogs Scare Tigers. For PHS, which has had to struggle for every win this season, there was no such thing as a "breather." If there were, it would have to be Hopewell Valley, which came to the PHS gym with a lackluster 4-13 record.

As it turned out, it was PHS which was breathing hard when Alan Posta's basket in the closing seconds gave the Bulldogs a 51-50 lead. After Hayes scored on his layup for his 20th and 21st points — his high for the season — Hopewell, with two seconds left, tried a length of the court pass which sailed out of bounds. The win evened Princeton's record at 7-7.

Hoyes got scoring support from Terry Phox, 10 points, and McKellar, who had nine. Posta, the losers' top scorer, tied Hynes for scoring honors with 21.

LITTLE TIGERS LOSE

On Sat, 35-24. When Adam Cote decisioned Bob Eversberg, 4-3, in their 158-pound match, Princeton High School last week owned a 24-20 lead over the Hopewell Valley wrestling team.

The last three bouts, however, went decision, pin, forfeit for the Bulldogs, who escaped with a 35-24 win.

The Little Tigers, struggling with a 2-6-1 record, have a match this Wednesday afternoon at Notre Dame and will end their regular season Saturday afternoon at 1:30 against powerful Steinert in the Spartans' gym.

Against Hopewell, PHS scored three-fourths of its points on a pin by Nick Hastings in 1:12 over Tod Asaro at 115 pounds and forfeit wins for Josh Miller and Scott Perone at 122 and 135 pounds.

Eric Pnntz contributed three more points with a 14-7 decision over Glen Kersten in their 141-pound bout. Hopewell collected 24 points with pins at 108 pounds, 148, 170 and 188. Brian LaCross, the Bulldog's outstanding 188-pounder, pinned Paul Knoepfmacher in 62 seconds while Paul Graven needed only 52 to deck Clark Lippincott, Princeton's 148-pound wrestler.

PHS REIGNS SUPREME

In Winter Track. Last week's Colonial Valley Conference winter track meet at Lawrenceville School's Lavino Field House was strictly a contest for second place.

Ewing won that, edging Notre Dame, 22-21. Far out front of both, however, was Princeton High with 69½ points. In the process, the Little Tigers set five meet records.

This Wednesday afternoon at Jadwin Gym on the university campus, PHS will be a favorite in the Group 2 track championships.

The Fletcher brothers had a hand in three records. Lamont, a senior, won the 440 in 51.5, bettering the old mark of 52.4 set in 1980 by Hopewell Valley's Peter Pessel and he joined with Kevin Phox, Ted Geherty and Jon Woolston to win the 4x440 relay in 3:32.9. The old record was 3:40.2 set two years ago by PHS.

Fletcher also tied the meet record of 6.5 set by Paul Miles of PHS last year in winning the 60-yard dash. Stephan Fletcher, a junior, captured the 60 high hurdles in a new meet record of 7.6, breaking the old mark of 7.7 set last year by teammate Wayne Davis. Davis finished second this year behind Fletcher with another 7.7 clocking.

PHS also won both field events. P.J. Young broke his own meet record of 49-11½ in the shot with a toss of 51-3½ to finish ahead of teammate Tom Murray, who was second with 47-10½. In the high jump, Princeton's Ken McKellar won with a leap of 6-2.

Woolston was second in the 880 with a clocking of 2:02.9. The event was won by Ewing's Tony Koger in 2:01.1 — a new meet record and one-tenth of a second faster than the previous standard of 2:01.2 set in 1980 by Princeton's John Perkins.

Rice Double Winner. In the girls CVC meet Princeton finished second to Notre Dame, 57½ to 29½, but had the meet's only double winner in Gladys Rice.

Rice won the 60-yard dash in the record-breaking time of 7.3 to better the old mark of 7.6 set last year by Kim Johnson of PHS. She also captured the 440 in 62.6.

PHS also appeared to have another first in the 4x440 relay where PHS nipped Notre Dame with a time of 4:16.3. However, both PHS and Notre Dame were disqualified for lane infractions, sending the first-place ribbon to third-place finisher, Lawrence. Lawrence was timed in 4:36 — almost 20 seconds slower than PHS.

SKI STREAK CONTINUES

For Anne Knudson-Fitzpatrick. "I can't believe it, I have to keep this going and concentrate on the nationals," commented Anne Knudson-Fitzpatrick this week after she won still another skiing trophy.

To concentrate on the nationals March 22, Anne is skiing competitively every weekend. Last weekend she finished on top among 50 some women skiers by a whopping 3 to 4 seconds in the Eastern United States Ski Association's challenge series (Pennsylvania vs. Connecticut) held at Mt.

Southington in Connecticut, sponsored by Miller Beer.

Then she won the overall combined time trophy for men and women — as the most consistent high-placed finisher in all races. She was named the meet's Most Outstanding Racer and was presented a high-polished picture frame mirror from the Miller Lite Company. About 120 racers competed in the two-day event.

"I'm really starting to ski well," observed Anne. "I don't know what it is, whether I'm concentrating more or whether I have more time this year but it's amazing. Maybe it's a win streak. I can't believe it; I just hope I can keep it going."

SEASON GETS LONGER

For PHS Girls Quintet. A lopsided loss to West Windsor Thursday, and a one-point setback at the hands of Hopewell Valley earlier, sent the Princeton High School girls basketball team reeling to its fourteenth loss in 16 games.

The Little Tigers never got going against West Windsor, falling behind 31-6 at the half when they were outscored 21-2 in the second period. The final tally was 53-27, West Windsor.

Paige Walden's 14 points paced PHS while Carla Thomas scored 21 for the Pirates, including her team's first 12. She also contributed 10 rebounds to pace WW to its fourth win in a row.

Earlier in the week, PHS was unable to hold off Hopewell Valley in the final period and saw the Bulldogs snatch a 37-36 win. Monica Greenland of PHS led all scorers with 22 points; Joanne Astalosh and Jackie Rommel combined for 23 for Hopewell.

PHS will end its regular season this week with games at home against Trenton this Wednesday and Lawrence on Friday.

HUN DRAWS TRENTON

In County Tournament. Sixth-seeded Hun School will oppose second-seeded Trenton High Tuesday in the first round of play in the eight-team Mercer County Basketball Tournament.

The two will meet at 8:30 at the Trenton State court. The semi-finals will be held next Thursday and the finals next Saturday at 8:30 at Rider College.

Hun coach Bob Hendrickson was not dismayed at drawing Trenton, the defending tournament champion. In fact, he welcomed it. The Raiders at 15-4 are about to cap a fine season under Hendrickson but along with the wins Hendrickson, in his second year, wants something more — credibility.

"We're anxious to play against the best competition," insisted Hendrickson. "Trenton's the team I wanted. It has a strong basketball tradition and great ability. If we want respect, that's the kind of team we have to play." Hendrickson noted that, in its one game so far against a public school — Steinert — it lost. "I think there's some pressure on us to prove we belong" (in the tournament) he added.

Defense Beats Pennington. Last week, Hun used an effective sluffing man-to-man defense to shut down Pennington School, 58-33. "We shot well but we played great defense. We didn't make any defensive mistakes," said Hendrickson.

The stingy Raiders limited Pennington to its second lowest output this season, including only 13 points in the first half. Hun, meantime, had jumped to a 12-1 lead as the losers struggled with their marksmanship. Visiting Pennington could connect on only six of 18 attempts in the first half.

When Hun's high-scoring Mark Murphy began to find the hoop — he led all scorers with 20 — it was all over for Pennington. Andy Marlatt also reached double figures for Hun with 12.

For Pennington, which had battled Hun to the wire in a game earlier this season, it was its fourth loss in a row. "Recently, we've lost our intensity," said Pennington coach Bill Long. "I don't know why."

The previous day, Murphy and Marlatt had led Hun to a 62-53 win over Peddie. Murphy hit for 20 markers once again while Marlatt added 13 and nine rebounds.

A 17-7 second period spurt gave Hun a 28-15 lead which it widened to 43-26 after three periods. It was the third time the two teams had faced each other this year and Hun's victory gave it the series, 2-1. Peddie's record is 14-4.

FINAL TWO MEETS

For Hun Mat Squad. The Hun School wrestling team, a 45-15 loser to Lawrenceville last week, needs a split in its final two dual meets to finish the season with a .500 record.

Hun (7-7) will make its final home appearance this Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 against Hamilton High. Its last regular season meet before the start of the prep school state championships the following weekend at Dwight Englewood, will be Friday evening at 6:30 at Ewing High School.

Two pins and a decision were all Hun could claim in its match with Lawrenceville. Hun's Rick Gallin (8-4) pinned John Muscarelli in 5:36 in their 115-pound match and heavyweight Yawan Kayali decked the Larries' Ted Kim in 4:40.

Hun co-captain Scott Crater raised his record to 11-1 (19-3 overall) with a 4-2 decision over Shawn Lynch. Hun started off 18 points down when it had to forfeit three weight classes — 100, 108 and 121.

Hun coach Dave Faus reports that an attempt is being made to try to arrange a match with Princeton High School before the season ends.

CHAMPIONS DUE: North Atlantic Senior Dance Champions, Susan Jorgensen and Robert Yokabeskes, and other national competitors will be featured at Princeton Skating Club's production, "Magic on Ice" February 27 and 28 at Baker Rink.

ICE CARNIVAL PLANNED

At Baker Rink. "Magic On Ice," the Princeton Skating Club's Ice Carnival of 1982, will be held February 27 and 28 at Princeton University's Baker Rink.

Saturday's show begins at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday's matinee at 3. Proceeds from the two performances will benefit the renovation of Baker Rink. Tickets are available at Allen's, Cox's, Hulit's, Thomas Sweet Chocolates, and the Nassau Inn. The admission prices for both shows are $6 for adults, $4 for children.

The show will feature Lynue and Jay Freeman, who placed in the recent national championships, and Susan Jorgensen and Robert Yokabaskas, the North Atlantic Senior Dance Champions. Also appearing will be Stash Serafin, a blind skater featured on television.

Area skaters who will perform include Wiz Lippincott and Treby McLaughlin of Princeton University; Louise Matthews and Beth Hirsh, who will skate as the "Blues Sisters"; Wendy Donath and Beazie Zenzie. Six area hockey skaters will perform as the Electric Horseman.

Introducing Quantum

The wagon that out-Volkswagens them all.

The Quantum wagon is the first of a whole new line of Volkswagens. With the roomiest interior space any VW passenger car ever had. (More than any wagon in its class.)

But the Quantum is far bigger than its size. It's a technological giant.

Consider an electronic ignition system that eliminates costly point replacements and timing adjustments at tune-up time. Which lowers maintenance costs by up to 8%.

Consider a "thinking" rear axle that knows the difference between side-to-side motion and forward/backward motion. Which translates into an unusual combination of benefits: utterly precise handling plus a remarkably comfortable ride.

Consider aerodynamic design so finely honed that it even improves the car's road-tugging ability.

And then think of this: The biggest Volkswagen ever, uses less gas than some of last year's smaller models. An EPA estimated 28 mpg, 41 mpg highway estimate! (Use "estimated mpg" for comparisons. Your mileage may vary with weather, speed and trip length. Actual highway mileage will probably be less.)

Test drive the Quantum at our showroom. You might even decide that it out-Volkswagens the Volkswagens.

Nothing else is a Volkswagen.

ABOUT

TREES NEED A SPRING
CLEAN-UP TOO!

with Sam De Turo
Woodwinds Associates

If March comes in like a lamb, we'll all soon be out putting and poking, while you're at it, remember that your trees need a spring cleanup, just like your garden!

Mending broken parts of shade trees, dormant spraying, and of course, feeding, can be done weeks before garden soil is workable, or a lawn is ready to be repaired.

A look into your trees will show what major work needs to be done, dangling branches, dead or dying (or just unwanted) branches, should be removed. This same pruning will improve a tree by better branch spacing, giving new character to a tree which has grown out of bounds.

Of primary importance is that part of your tree which you cannot see: its root system. Feeding roots (or rootlets) may have been torn loose by violent storms or winds. They have certainly been affected by the long drought! In order to insure proper soil nutrients to aid in the tree's repair, to strengthen it against the legion of nasty little insects which will soon be on the march, and to help it meet the demands of hungry and thirsty buds, there is one simple answer: FEEDING!

A deep-root feeding with a well-balanced organic fertilizer is the single most important phase of your spring clean-up. It is the quickest way to restore vigor and protect against weakening attacks by insects and disease throughout the growing season.

If you have any questions on the health and care of your valuable trees and shrubs, please call WOODWINDS at 924-3500. We're happy to help!

OBITUARIES

Helen Dukas, personal secretary to Albert Einstein for 28 years and archivist and co-trustee of his papers after his death in 1955, died February 10 in Princeton Medical Center.

She was 85 years old and lived in Einstein's house at 112 Mercer Street with his 82-year old stepdaughter, Margot Einstein.

Miss Dukas was born in Freiburg, Germany, daughter of a wine-merchant. She grew up as one of seven children in an old-fashioned cultured family that loved music, and she was also known as a voracious reader.

She went to work for Dr. Einstein in 1927 in Germany and moved with him and his family to England and then to Princeton in 1933. She became a member of the family and is remembered for her loyalty and protectiveness of the physicist.

Since Einstein's death, and right up until the morning of her own hospitalization, Miss Dukas had been assembling his papers at the Institute for Advanced Study, where the physicist worked for the last 22 years of his life. She was co-author of two books on Einstein with Banesh Hoffman, professor emeritus of mathematics at Queens College. They are entitled, "Albert Einstein, the Human Side," and "Albert Einstein: Creator and Rebel."

Miss Dukas is survived by a sister in New York and a sister in England and many nieces and nephews.

A private service was held at the Jewish Center of Princeton.

Otto A. Piper, 90, of Princeton, died February 13 at the Foothill Acres Nursing Home in Neshanic where he had been a patient since 1978.

Dr. Piper became Helen M.P. Manson Professor of New Testament Literature and Exegesis at Princeton Theological Seminary in 1941, serving on the faculty until his retirement in 1962, when he was made Professor Emeritus. From 1961 to 1968 he served as director of the Lilly Endowment Bibliographic Project in New Testament Literature. Prior to his appointment at Princeton, he taught at the University of Goettingen, where he was made Professor Extraordinary in 1928, and at the University of Muenster, where he succeeded Karl Barth in the Chair of Theology.

Born in Lichte, Germany in 1891, Dr. Piper served in the German Army as infantryman in World War I. He was educated at the Universities of Jena, Marburg, Paris, Munich and Goettingen, receiving his doctorate from Goettingen in 1920. Forced to flee Germany in 1933 at the beginning of the Hitler era, he spent three years as a guest professor at the University of Wales before coming to Princeton Seminary as guest professor in 1937.

RELIGION In Princeton

ARMS RACE TOPIC
Of Retreat at Christ Congregation. "Ground Zero at Bangor," a film about the global arms race, will be shown and discussed at Christ Congregation on Saturday beginning at 8 p.m.

The film is the opening event of a Mini-Retreat on Peacemaking sponsored by the church's Board of Social Action and Outreach. Interested persons in the community are invited to attend any or all sessions of the retreat.

"Ground Zero at Bangor" was produced by the Religious Broadcasting Commission of Seattle, Wash. The Commission believes that the film "explores the emotional debate between the advocates of unilateral disarmament and proponents of military superiority with sensitivity and balance." Included are scenes from protest demonstrations at the Trident Submarine Base at Bangor, interviews, and scenes of the latest military weapons.

On Sunday morning the examination of the arms race issue will resume with a sermon by the Rev. Larry Pullen at the 10 a.m. worship service and a sermon "talk-back" session at 11:15.

The Rev. Mr. Pullen is manager of the Peace Concerns Program for the American Baptist Churches. He received his M.Div. degree from Colgate Rochester Divinity School in 1980 and his master's degree in international relations from the American University's School of International Service.

There will be a potluck luncheon at noon, and the afternoon sessions will begin at 1:30 with a discussion entitled "Beyond Nuclear Disarmament, the Things that Make for Peace." Mr. Pullen will lead an open-ended discussion on what else is needed for a world at peace. He will explore the general topics of foreign policy, human rights, and violence endemic to our society.

The afternoon will conclude with a discussion on "What We in the Churches Can Do!" Christ Congregation is located near Princeton High School at the corner of Walnut Lane and Houghton Road.

* OUR PROMISE TO PRINCETON CONSUMERS:

IF YOU HAVE A COMPLAINT against any local business firm, just call 924-8223 and a Consumer Bureau representative will investigate and mediate. Then, if you are not satisfied and

IF CONSUMER BUREAU'S ALL-CONSUMER PANEL
AGREES that your complaint is valid, the business firm involved has only two choices: either satisfy your complaint promptly or lose its Consumer Bureau
Registration

YOU CAN CHECK by phone any time you like whether any local business firm you name is Consumer Bureau Registered

(Not all reliable local firms are Registered but for every Registered firm we have been obliged to take off our Register, ten times that number of UnRegistered firms have failed to meet our standards of reliability.)

HIGHLIGHT of the WEEK

Not a CASTLE, Not a COTTAGE

but a home that's Just Right! Meticulously planned and designed by Princeton architect Rolf Bauhan for the many needs of a large and active family, it is as right today as when master-built in the '50s.

Spacious living and dining rooms, planned for formal entertaining as well as family parties overlook a walled brick terrace and free form in-ground pool, but the real heart of the house is the cozy paneled library with fireplace and walls book-lined to the ceiling. Upstairs, attractive master suite of bedroom and bath, four other bedrooms, three baths, and piping in for a fourth - if needed.

This is a charming house, built of brick and shingle to be weather-tight, maintenance free, easy to heat. Set midst tastefully landscaped grounds, backing up to one of Princeton's fine old estates, it's a joy to see and a pleasure to live in.

Dating Service

height, weight, and hobbies. The matches I got were with a variety of men, but the only thing we had in common was that we were living in central New Jersey."

At that point the Strzeleckis decided they could find a better way. "We were both single, we detested the bar scene, and we knew the problems of finding people," says Mary.

Marianne adds, "We decided to offer a more realistic approach. In order to match people you have to know in pretty much detail what people are looking for. You have to know their background, their attitudes about basic things—women's liberation, religion, their attitude toward work and their career, their hobbies."

And sex. "You don't want to put someone who definitely wants sex in a relationship together with someone who never wants sex before marriage," says Mary.

Last April the Strzeleckis launched their business. Their four-page application form lists 40 separate questions about the applicant's character traits and about what he or she looks for in a date. For a basic fee of $45, Arrange-a-Date promises to set up each participant with five to seven matches, and also give them three choices from a randomly selected list of the service's clients.

Money-Back Guarantee. A match occurs whenever two people satisfy each other's requirements. If one of the matches turns out to have found a steady dating partner, then a credit is given. If Arrange-a-Date just can't find five matches for a particular person, then a refund is offered.

In the first year of operation Arrange-a-Date has listed about 300 people on its rolls. Only six have needed refunds. The Strzeleckis say that the bulk of the membership is between 25 and 40 and the male-female ratio in that group is about equal. Below 25 they have more men than women; over 40 they have more women than men. It takes longer for people in both of those groups to get their matches — "We're very honest with them."

The Arrange-a-Date membership provides a glimpse of what single people are looking for. The group has "a strong anti-smoking prejudice," says Mary, "and the second thing is weight. People don't want to date anyone who's more than 15 pounds overweight."

Marianne adds that "women will usually not date

MATCHMAKER, MATCHMAKER: Through their Princeton-based dating service, the cousins Strzelecki—Marianne, left, and Mary—serve as matchmakers for about 300 people. The service uses neither photographs nor videotapes, just thorough questioning of the members and the good judgment and intuition of the Strzeleckis. "For a lot of people this is an adventure," they say, "another way of meeting people."

a man with less education, or a man who makes less money." Some men tell the service they don't want to meet women with strong careers, because they fear the women won't have enough time for them.

Psychic Rewards. The people who use the service, Marianne adds, "are dissatisfied with the bar scene. They are people who are not particularly religious and who feel that going to singles groups in churches would be hypocritical. They have very busy lives, they're interested in getting their careers off the ground, and they don't want to spend a lot of time in a bar looking for someone." Sixty percent of them are divorced.

Two people who cannot use the service are the founders. Shortly after trying the Ms magazine dating service, Marianne met a man at a Princeton meadows cocktail party. She is getting married and moving to Houston, Texas, in April. Mary figures she would be an ideal candidate for the service, but says, "It seems unethical for us to date the members."

The Strzeleckis say that their venture has yet to show a profit, despite the 20 hours a week they put into it without pay. But they have some psychic rewards: Several participants have asked to be taken off the active membership list; they have found steady friends. One couple is now engaged.

Arrange-a-Date doesn't promise that all matches will end that way. "We just do some of the weeding out for people," says Mary. "If we could bottle the chemistry, then we'd make a fortune." It would sell briskly on Nassau Street.

Borough and Township. This year's party will honor Mrs. Hall for her five years as first woman Mayor of Princeton Township and for her 30 years of service to Republicans in the County as well as the Township. During those years, in addition to being a county committee woman, she played a major role in the successful campaigns of former Senator Clifford Case, Assemblyman Karl Weidel and former Assemblyman Cliff Snedeker.

In celebration of these achievements and her success in rebuilding the local Republican party, The Republican Association has planned an informal cocktail-buffet dance with a cash bar from 5 to 10. The Elks Lodge is located just beyond the Dairy Inn at the intersection of Route 518 and The Great Road.

Invitations have been sent to members and contributors. Anyone who would like to attend may mail a check before March 1 made out to the Republican Association of Princeton and mailed to Mrs. Marion Andresen, 271 Hawthorne Avenue, Princeton. Tickets are $25 a person or $35 per Patron.

TO HONOR HER HONOR Party for Josie Hall. Friends of Josie Hall are invited to attend a party in her honor on Saturday, March 6, from 5-10 at the Princeton Elks Lodge 2129 on Route 518 in Blawenburg.
